By PETER ARNETT
Associated Press Staff Writer
SAIGON (AP)—US Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge met with South Viet Nam's security boss today after the government, fearing further uprisings, ordered soldiers to shoot into any illegal gathering.

Lodge conferred with Ngo Dinh Nhu, head of the secret police and brother of President Ngo Dinh Diem, for more than two hours. They met at Nhu's request.

Lodge presented his credentials to Diem Monday and conferred twice with the president. He carried a note from President Kennedy, spelling out U.S. views of the Vietnamese crisis.

Lodge arrived in Saigon Thursday and replaced Frederick E. Nolting, who resigned as ambassador.

Brig. Gen. Ton That Dinh, Saigon's military governor, moved swiftly to prevent mass uprisings. He ordered security forces to shoot into "any group of troublemakers who violate the state of martial law" imposed Wednesday. Government spokesmen said the military was acting under orders from Diem.

Strikes Banned
Clearly referring to the arrest of 3,000 university students as they gathered Sunday for a demonstration, Gen. Dinh asked parents to advise their children "not to indulge in any illegal action which may bring about disastrous consequences."

He also banned labor strikes and appealed to the capital's 2 million people "to remain calm and clear sighted."

University of Saigon faculty branches in the city were sealed off by South Vietnamese troops. Antiaircraft batteries remained around the presidential palace and at key points in Saigon, apparently to guard against any possible air force revolt.

In Washington, the State Department said Vietnamese military leaders had no warning of the anti-Buddhist crackdown

The long vigil at the Hazelton, Pa., coal mine where their husbands were entombed for two weeks before rescue today, is over for Mrs. David Fellin, left, and Mrs. Henry Throne. A drill rig cut an escape hole to the chamber in which the men were trapped and they were lifted out early today in hoisting harnesses. (AP Wirephoto)

Singing Miners Lifted After 14 Days In Trap

By JAMES V. LAMB
HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—Joking and singing all the way, Henry Throne and David Fellin were lifted to the surface today unharmed in a safety harness from more than 300 feet underground where a mine cave-in trapped them 14 days ago.

The rescue climaxed a drama that caught world-wide attention; a drama mixed with faith, courage, frustrations and the heart-warming stream of good humor that flowed constantly from Throne, 28, and Fellin, 58.

But the joy was tempered with concern for the third trapped miner, Louis Bova, 42, who was last heard from a week ago today. He was separated from them by 25 feet of debris, and four efforts to drill a small lifeline hole to him—like the one which reached Throne and Fellin—have been unsuccessful.

Throne started up at 1:50 a. m. and reached the surface at 2:07 a. m., a 17-minute trip he described as "the best ride I ever had." Fellin started at 2:33 a. m. and reached the surface at 2:41. His rescue took 8 minutes and 15 seconds.

In Good Condition
Although grimy, both men appeared in good shape when they reached the surface. Shortly thereafter workers began drilling a new four-inch lifeline hole toward where Bova is believed to be.

By 9 a. m., the large drill had penetrated more than 66 feet while the smaller one reached a depth of 20 feet.

The men were examined in a first aid tent, then quickly removed by two helicopters to the Hazelton State Hospital nine miles away, where a special ward was prepared for them.

Throne and Fellin were pronounced in excellent shape by physicians who examined them after their 14-day ordeal.

State Enjoying Top Tourist Year

LANSING (AP)—Michigan should enjoy the best tourist year in history as the result of record Summer business, according to a mid-summer survey by the State Tourist Council.

"There can be no doubt that we are headed for our greatest summer season," said William McGraw, council director.

Favorable weather and a rising economy gave an assist, McGraw said.

Some of the boost, he said, should be attributed to a $124,000 increase in the 1962-63 promotional budget.

There was 15 per cent increase in requests for Michigan travel information and literature received by the council through July. McGraw said with favorable weather this fall, the tourist business for the year should top the predicted $700 million. Tourist spending last year was estimated at $680 million.

Favorable reports were received from regional tourist association secretary-managers. Comments included:

Dr. Peter Saras, who examined Throne, and Dr. Anthony Fidulla, personal physician to Fellin for the past 10 years, said they were both amazed that the miners survived in cramped quarters in such excellent shape.

Saras said Throne's blood pressure when he was brought to the surface early today was down a

Woman's Way

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—Anna Fellin is getting her way at last.

For a long, long while the wife of Davey Fellin, rescued with Henry Throne from two weeks' entombment in a coal mine, has wanted him to give up mining.

After what he has been through, Fellin has promised his wife to call it a day underground.

Dr. Anthony Fedullo, Fellin's own physician, came out from a session with his celebrated patient this morning, and quoted Fellin as saying that Anna wins.

"Throne was absolutely in good spirits," said Saras. "He had no

Saras said he didn't expect Throne to remain in the hospital for much longer than 48 hours. He will be x-rayed and given heart and other psychological tests later today.

Fidulla said he planned to keep Fellin in the hospital for about a week just to make certain everything is all right. He said Fellin came through in fine shape, and that his mind was clear.

Saras said Throne's blood pressure rose slightly after he was transferred to Hazelton Hospital where both men were given a complete physical examination.

"Throne was absolutely in good spirits," said Saras. "He had no

James Hall, East Michigan Tourist Association: "The summer tourist season is better than in 1962 to date. If present trends continue this could be classed as a fine summer season for the industry in Eastern Michigan, but certainly not a record season."

Kenneth Dorman, Upper Peninsula Tourist Association: "An increase in tourist traffic and resort patronage is being enjoyed by nearly all sections of Upper Michigan this summer. The upturn, variously estimated at from two to three per cent up to 25 per cent, bears out pre-season predictions."

The Highway Department reported June travel was up 7.6 per cent over the same month last year while travel in July was up 7.8 per cent.

Mackinac Bridge traffic was up 2.6 per cent over last year in June and up 4.4 per cent in July.

The Ambassador Bridge reported a five per cent increase over last year in July.

Increases also were reported from the International Bridge at Sault Ste. Marie and in the number of visitors to the Soo locks. The Automobile Club of Michigan reported requests for resort reservations from the Detroit office up 50 per cent over last year. The Conservation Department said non-resident fishing license sales were slightly down. Daily and annual state park permits also were slightly down.

complaints except for a swelling in his right hand which he had bumped on some coal and suffered lacerations.

Massaged Each Other
Ira Mills, state commissioner of hospitals who had arranged a news conference, said he was told by Fellin and Throne that they managed to keep warm in their 9-by-14-foot cubicle where temperatures dropped to about 50 degrees by breathing on each other's backs and massaging each other's legs.

Fidulla said Fellin had suffered quite a swelling of the feet due to the coldness in the mine but it was really nothing and could be attributed to the fact he was older.

Saras said he asked Throne what he thought about in the mine and Throne replied that in the beginning it was food because for the first six days there was nothing to eat.

Contact was not made with Fellin and Throne until almost six days after the cave-in. Then shortly before midnight on Aug. 18 a six-inch lifeline hope reached them. Food and other supplies were dropped to them through this hole.

Faith Helped
Fidulla said Fellin, a Roman Catholic, "is a spiritual man and he (Fellin) thinks it was a prime factor in coming through."

Fidulla said Fellin told him that "after the first seven days he was confident he could come out safe. He said he prayed."

Fellin was given a hamburger, soup and coffee while Throne had a hamburger with all the trimmings, two bottles of beer and a stogie.

The wives of both men were waiting for them at the hospital. Mrs. Fellin, a Roman Catholic, made the sign of the cross, prayed and wept tears of joy when she received the news that the rescue had been accomplished.

At the hospital the men were first helped into tubs to wash off accumulation of grime. Shortly before 4 a. m. Fellin wondered when he could see his wife.

He had another request, too: for a sandwich, soup and coffee.

Wife Kept Waiting
At 4:08 a. m., just five hours short of two weeks after her husband had disappeared in the mine, Mrs. Fellin was reunited with him. She had been kept waiting almost an hour in the hospital after his arrival.

Finally the word came, and she moved solemnly into the room, threw her arms around him and wept on his shoulder.

"Don't cry," said the miner as he embraced her. "I'm all right. I'm all right."

The safety harness, pulled by a winch and cable arrangement, had been considered only for an emergency but it worked smoothly. Charnbury and other officials changed original plans to use a steel capsule because of a bend in the 18-inch escape hole which caused fears that the capsule might catch. When Charnbury announced the harness would be used, he asked his listeners to say a prayer for the men.

"I'm coming up!" yelled Throne as the harness ropes snapped taut about him. "I'm coming up!"

"No Moon?"
"Boy what a ride this is," said Throne half-way up.

At one point, when he was stopped because a tangle developed in his communication line

Washington Waiting March Wednesday

Senate Spinning Wheels As Rail Strike Day Nears

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate appeared today to be spinning its wheels on legislation to avert a nationwide railroad strike Thursday and leaders doubted the emergency measure could be passed in time.

Although there was speculation the railroads would withhold strike-triggering new work rules if Congress appeared to be on the verge of passing legislation, a railroad spokesman said no.

J. E. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the carriers, said on Monday they definitely would not grant an extension of their deadline, 12:01 a. m. Thursday.

During the long Senate debate Monday, there were mutterings for less talk and more action.

"When are we going to start voting?" demanded Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H. "We can't settle this thing on hot air."

Agreement Tonight?
Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, floor manager for a bill approved by the Senate Commerce Committee which he heads, said he thought there could be general agreement on a measure tonight, although passage might be delayed beyond the deadline.

To move things, Magnuson, D-Wash., said he would be willing to accept a more limited arbitration bill approved Monday by the House Commerce Committee. The House hopes to vote on this bill Wednesday.

An amendment was offered to bring the Senate bill into line with the House measure amid indications it was picking up support. But the track was far from clear.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., announced that if the Senate leaders intended to rush the bill through "I serve notice they will not succeed."

Favors ICC Rule
"Morse favors a modification of President Kennedy's proposal for settling the dispute by turning it over to the Interstate Commerce Commission. That plan was rejected by the Commerce Committee."

After a caucus, assistant Senate Democratic leader Hubert H. Humphrey said he thought a vote would be taken today but "it all depends on Sen. Morse."

The House bill which is drawing favor would require binding arbitration of the two manpower issues in dispute—the makeup and size of train crews and the elimination of some 32,000 jobs of firemen on diesel locomotives.

It would leave other work rules covering wages and a variety of other issues, to collective bargaining.

The Senate bill provides not only for arbitration of the manpower issues but also of the other issues if they have not been resolved within 30 days after the board's decision in the dispute over firemen and train crews.

State Campaign Vs. Racism Gets Ann Arbor Impetus

By The Associated Press
A civil rights struggle in Ann Arbor was intensifying today, but many of Michigan's Negro leaders focused attention on the big march in Washington Wednesday.

Police and members of the Ann Arbor Area Fair Housing Association drew nearer to a showdown today. The association planned an overnight "sit-in" at city hall in apparent defiance of authorities.

City Administrator Guy Larcom had warned, after last week's overnight demonstration inside city council chambers, that "action will be taken by the police in the case of any similar occurrences."

Mother Mute

FLINT (AP)—Accused of involuntary manslaughter in the death of her 4-year-old adopted son, Mrs. Ruth Maples, 35, of Lake Fenton, stood mute at arraignment Monday. Bond was continued at $700. No trial date was set. Authorities said Mrs. Maples admitted striking Donald Taylor Aug. 3 to discipline him. The boy fell from a stool to the floor. He died while being taken to a doctor's office.

Eisenhower Asks Anti-Aggression Proviso In Ban

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has joined Senate sponsors of the limited nuclear test-ban treaty with a call for an anti-aggression reservation to the pact.

But Democratic leaders got immediate Republican help in an effort to comply with the five-star general's proposal without having to renegotiate the Moscow-signed treaty.

Eisenhower wants the United States to reserve the right to use nuclear weapons to halt any aggression involving its vital interests.

He endorsed the treaty Monday in a letter to Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. But the former president said he had one reservation in mind.

"The reservation that I suggest would provide that in the event of any armed aggression endangering a vital interest of the United States this nation would be the sole judge of the kind and type of weaponry and equipment it would employ as well as the timing of their use," Eisenhower wrote.

Admiral Burke Fears Red Cheat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Arleigh A. Burke, former chief of naval operations, urged senators today to demand some system of verification or limited inspection of Soviet nuclear facilities before they ratify the limited nuclear test ban treaty.

He expressed fear Russia might cheat. Dr. George B. Kistiakowsky, who was White House science adviser to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, testified he endorsed the treaty without "the slightest reservation."

Korea Accused Of Breaking Armistice

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—The United Nations command accused Communist North Korea today of violating the Korean War armistice agreement 259 times between May 1 and Aug. 20.

The Communists countered with a list of 907 alleged violations by U.N. personnel between July 11 and Aug. 15, plus four last week. Charges were traded at the 260th meeting of the armistice commission.

Special Trains, Buses Rolling For Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP)—Leaders continued to pledge calm and dignity for their massive civil rights march on Washington Wednesday. But apprehension still hung in the air—about transportation, about the uncertainty of numbers, about an unexpected spark of violence.

The railroad unions have set a nationwide strike for midnight Wednesday night if new work rules go into effect then. It is a strike that could leave thousands of weary demonstrators stranded and milling in Washington.

Congress was set today to continue its try at legislation that would prevent the strike.

The uncertainty about numbers was accented early today when a spokesman for the march headquarters, Sy Posner, reported that about 2,000 of the persons around the country who had planned to join in the demonstration were having financial difficulties and would not be able to come to the capital.

Help By Fares
Posner said the Southern Christian Leadership Conference led by the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. had sent about $2,000 to its headquarters in Atlanta to help cover the transportation costs of 200 marchers from Albany, Ga., and 100 from Savannah, Ga.

Police, meanwhile, prepared to cope with the massive crowds, but they still were not sure just how many people trains, planes, buses and cars would stream into the city for the march.

But police were sure the crowds would be big. Estimates range from 100,000 to 250,000. With crowds of this size come the potential for trouble.

Freedom Train
A. Philip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Sleeping Car Porters and the director of the march, told the National Press Club Monday, "We have taken the utmost precaution to see that violence will not occur."

But, he added, "I will not stand here and tell you I know there will be no violence. Human beings are fallible."

Some special trains and buses begin rolling toward the capital today, carrying demonstrators from afar. A special freedom train, for example, is scheduled to start on its way no later than 6 p. m. and head through Florida, Georgia and South Carolina, picking up passengers in the South.

The train is expected in Washington before 10 a. m. Wednesday.

Most special trains and buses, however, will not start on their way until early Wednesday.

Teamsters Seek National Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—Teamsters Union officials begin laying the groundwork today for negotiations with management on a uniform national motor freight labor contract.

Teamster President James Hoffa called the meeting of more than 400 delegates representing the union's 50 joint councils and 40 key freight locals in his drive to hammer out a uniform agreement instead of the present series of separate contracts.

A union spokesman said similar preparatory meetings could be expected in management ranks and that the two sides would probably begin actual negotiations later in the year.

Hoffa has described the negotiations as perhaps the "most important question" to face the Teamsters in 1964.

About 450,000 Teamster Union members and 14,000 employers would be affected by the negotiations.

Shad, Other Fish Elusive, Trawler Operators Report

Trawling for shad and other fish in Green Bay waters has not been as successful as hoped, said Louis.

"We trawl at about three miles an hour. Going too fast will collapse the net, we have found."

The shad or alewife may be in such great abundance that they can be taken by the thousands of pounds, but the Rueleaus just haven't caught up with such immense schools as yet. Fact is, they have caught so few that they dumped them rather than bring them in.

Bay Bottom Rough

"There must be lots of them but we just haven't located them, that's all," said Louis Rueleau. "We have found the bay a pretty difficult place to trawl so far. Lots of stones and rough bottom."

Rueleau said there is the possibility the Luella May may be based at Cedar River rather than Escanaba, unless a better berth is found for her here. The boat is at present in the only spot available to her, which is on the Sand Island side of the channel in an exposed situation. Strong winds would create seas that would give the boat and the piling a hard pounding.

The trawler may also move to Manitowish for a try in the area south of Seul Choix to Boulder Reef and west to St. Martin's Island.

For example, the trawl nets are designed to open to a width of 60 feet, but in actual operation that width opening has not been attained, said Louis.

"We just haven't found the fish so far," said Louis Rueleau after the boat was docked last evening at Escanaba's boat harbor. "We're still experimenting with the equipment, there have been some mechanical troubles, and altogether you might say this is a testing period that is still going on."

The meeting was conducted by President Walter Peterson and Program Toastmaster Tom Hughson. Next meeting will be Monday night, Sept. 9. The public is invited to attend.

Appliance Shop Is Modernized

The ever-changing face of Ludington will be improved shortly with completion of the new Moderne Appliance building, 1620 Ludington, owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Browne of Portage Point.

The new facility has been widened from 17½ to 35 feet. Previously the Brownes operated their store in a building 17½ feet wide, half the width of the property they owned at this location. But, an increase in services to the public necessitates utilizing the full lot.

Mrs. Browne said the new structure will include a complete service department, display areas for their DuMont and Zenith lines, and a separate stereo room where customers can see the very latest in stereo designs and listen to the various units in a room set up to give the very best in tonal quality.

Mr. and Mrs. Browne first began their operation at 1610 Ludington, a few doors from their present location, in October of 1936. In 1945 they moved to 1620 Ludington where they have remained since.

With the use of Arizona stone on the exterior of the building and wood paneling throughout the interior the store has been given a very contemporary look.

The front of the old building has been removed and replaced with a handsome stone and glass front that covers the entire 33-foot area, tying the two units together as one building. Along the base of the window line the cement has been marked in the shape of huge flagstones and each tinted a separate color.

Interior walls of the store will all be re-done in oak paneling. The ceilings will be lowered to nine feet and will be suspended acoustical with flush-mounted lighting. The floors will be covered in vinyl inlaid.

Mr. and Mrs. Browne have been distributors for the Zenith products in the area for the past 27 years. They also handle Gibson electrical appliances.

North Western's Ore Experts On Tour Of Mines

The Chicago & North Western Railway is host to its iron ore transportation experts on the Lower Lakes in Escanaba in a two day "show me" presentation of iron ore and pellet iron production on the Upper Peninsula iron ranges.

William Kluender, of Chicago, director of resource development for the railroad, is in charge of the meeting, with headquarters at the House of Ludington.

A Chicago & North Western Super Twin Beech plane was to fly the railmen in two groups this afternoon on an Upper Peninsula route that would show them the Marquette and Menominee Ranges. The installations to be seen from the air will include the new Empire Mine plant at Palmer, the underground mines at Ishpeming-Negaunee, the Marquette ore docks, the open pit mine and pelletizing plants at Humboldt and Republic, the agglomerator at Eagle Mills.

Aerial Tour

Dropping down from Lake Superior, the aerial tourists were to see the new Hanna Mining Co. plant near Randville and go on to the Mineral Hills area of underground mining at Iron River. The return was to be along the route of the North Western's ore haul to the Port of Escanaba, where the North Western operates the only ore shipping dock on Lake Michigan.

Tonight a meeting of railmen and mining company officials is planned at the Ludington ore handling and Wednesday will be devoted to a surface tour of mines on the Menominee Range. Kluender said "We want our people who handle ore at the mill end to see it produced. Iron ore is one of the principle commodities handled by the Chicago & North Western Railway. In 1962 we handled a total of more than 5 million tons for a revenue of $6,845,500."

"The railroad facilities for handling iron ore are unlike those for any other commodity. A great deal of specialized equipment, together with specific 'know how' to handle high volumes of ore in a relatively short period of time, are necessary."

Industry Changing

"The iron ore industry is currently undergoing great changes. These are both reflected and occurring in the mines we serve. It's our intention to keep our railroad services abreast of the changes and developments taking place and to increase our tonnage and revenue in this commodity."

Attending the conference here are Kluender, H. J. Schroeder, assistant vice president of the North Western, Chicago; J. R. Brennan, executive assistant to the president, Chicago; G. W. Armstrong, regional traffic manager, Chicago; S. A. Keathley, regional traffic manager, St. Louis; P. J. Sullivan, regional traffic manager, Detroit; R. W. Christie, assistant to the assistant vice president, Chicago.

Weather Bureau Change

The U. S. Weather Bureau announces that the Escanaba Weather Station, which started operations in May, 1871, only a year after the National Service was started by the Signal Corps, will be changed from first order to second order status.

That may not sound drastic in governmental legalese, but it means that local weather reporting will be handled by remote control except for a contract observer who will phone his local data to Green Bay. After Sept. 1 (Jack) Decker, who has been with the Weather Bureau for 45 years and head of the local station since 1951, won't be at the other end of the telephone. In fact there won't be any telephone.

When the folks from Felch call in to say that it's 41 degrees below zero there won't be any gentle Jack Decker on hand to say that it may be true in Felch, but that in Escanaba it's only 21 degrees below zero.

Decker's last effort for the Weather Bureau is one of diplomacy and not meteorology and he suggests that we will get even better service with a second order status weather station, because all the meteorological wonders are now making it possible to bring more scientific exactitude to forecasting. And we must, he suggests, go along with government efforts at efficiency and economy.

We are mindful of this and of the human foible that makes us all support government economy until it affects us. We must wait and see if there's any improvement in weather forecasting here as result of this replacement of Meteorologist Jack Decker and Meteorological Aide Tom Coen with some long distance telephone calls.

But we needn't wait to know that we have lost a helpful, human and personal service. We will no longer be able to phone the local weather station and ask an explanation of local weather phenomena. There will be no local pride in the local weather that cites Escanaba as warmer this morning than Tuscaloosa, Ala., or which points out that the Midwest drought doesn't affect us; that interprets the Great Lakes influence in the vagaries of the weather, gives us a monthly rundown on how were doing, temperature-wise, and sums up the weather locally by the seasons.

We are experiencing here the familiar pattern of automation, mechanization, electrification, and the other means of replacing workers with machines. Persons who pay taxes can't sensibly quarrel with Weather Bureau efforts to economize. We predict that the changes now underway in the bureau to chop off some of its smaller service stations and spend more on gadgetry will cost more money than is being spent now. This is the inevitability of scientific progress in this field.

This judgment is not a criticism and it is not suggested here that there will not be a greater accuracy in weather reporting. It is changing its methods, particularly under the impact of space flights which are making possible inner space observations affecting weather which were never possible before.

The president of the American Meteorological Association (the head of an insurance firm) addressing a school for science writers at Michigan State University several years ago described the revolutionary new learning in meteorology opening up as result of space flight observation. Long range forecasting, he said, had up to then been pretty much an eeny-meeny game of marbles, but with the rockets red glare there was a new era of weather reporting on the way, and the forecaster wouldn't be so apt to booby by insisting that it was coming up roses when the skies were making a goosedrowner.

After 92 years people get used to ways of doing things and the Escanaba Area has become used to having the Weather Bureau manufacture its weather in Escanaba. To have our weather made in Green Bay, Wis., may make sense in Washington, but it tweaks our pride.

A bawdy story of World War II had a next to the punch line explanation that "Because of Hitler the loaves are littler." We're asked to cheer a similar change with science cast as the change maker and economy in the role of hero. It rouses wonder whether science and efficiency are ever going to collaborate in any change which fails to increase the population of Washington and enlarges that of the hinterland.

The Doctor Says: No Serious Eye Problem

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Q—What causes dark discoloration under the eyes? What can be done for this?

A—If other members of your family have the same condition it may be a hereditary tendency to have very thin skin in that region. This would allow the dark, venous blood to show through.

Late hours with not enough sleep is another cause. The condition is often more noticeable to the girl who inspects herself too closely than it is to friends. In any case it is not serious, but, if it bothers you a great deal, you can use cosmetics to hide it.

Q—I am a housewife. What side effects am I likely to get from nandrolone phenpropionate (Durabolin)? My doctor says it is a male hormone and that it will improve my appetite and help me to gain weight.

A—The usual side effects from male hormone are less severe with this drug than with some of the other male hormone preparations. It may, however, cause acne, hoarseness, increase of facial hair, and some menstrual irregularity. These side effects are usually easily controlled by decreasing the dose.

Q—I am over 50 and am troubled with itching ears and eyelids. What causes this and can it be helped?

A—The causes of itching are legion but, when it chiefly involves the ears and eyelids, a common cause is seborrheic dermatitis, a disease that is associated with excessive dandruff and that is vastly improved by controlling the dandruff. This and allergy are the two commonest causes of the kind of itching you have.

Q—I have excessive sweating of the hands. Is there anything I can use to stop this?

A—Sweating of the palms is almost always due to instability of the nervous mechanism that controls the caliber of the blood vessels in the skin. This mechanism makes them dilate in a warm environment to permit increased sweating and contract when the environment is cold. The antiperspirant preparations used in the armpits are of no value for sweating of the hands. Coffee increases nervous tension and should, therefore, be avoided. Propantheline bromide taken by mouth has been used with this condition. Consult your doctor for the amount and frequency of the dose required.

Please send your questions and comments to Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON
WASHINGTON—(NEA) — The world's largest picnic lunch is going to be held on the Washington Monument grounds Aug. 28 in connection with the March on Washington for Jobs and Freedom.

The marchers must of necessity go back empty-handed. No one can wave any magic wand at the end of the demonstration to achieve their demands.

Decent housing. Access to public accommodations. Adequate and integrated education. The right to vote. No filibuster against pending civil rights bills. A massive public works program to provide jobs for all. A minimum wage of $2 an hour. And a fair employment practices act for all.

You see, I'm at the State Hospital and can come back as soon as I have a place to stay.

I used to be told I had heart trouble, but now it seems I'm O.K.

I'd like a place as a companion or light house work. I'm over 50 but I can still work well. I just have to get a start somewhere there, so I can come back. I thought maybe the Welfare could find me a couple rooms and help me until I could get settled there.

Dr. Gorham is my doctor now. He could tell anyone about me coming back. Will you please help me. I'm counting on you.

Lawyers Ranked High In U.S. Professional Scale

American Medical Assn. News
What laymen think of lawyers civic, church aid governmental affairs was ranked next.

The survey showed that laymen regarded lawyers in non-urban areas as having a better reputation than urban attorneys. Low ability, dishonesty, solicitation, drinking and marital discord were listed in that order as factors detracting from a lawyer's reputation.

Most laymen were satisfied with the service they had received from attorneys. Chief complaints of the 7 per cent expressing dissatisfaction were about delay, failure of lawyers to keep the client informed and lack of explaining fees. Another complaint sometimes given was that lawyers had been aloof, indifferent or exhibited a superior attitude.

The survey showed that almost 70 per cent of the lawyer's clients came into his office because of his general reputation, for capability or honesty, or both. Attorneys obtained less than 25 per cent of their clients by "getting around and meeting people."

Reputation and personal contact was given by people in metropolitan areas as less of a factor in selecting an attorney, and referral by friends was mentioned more often.

Lawyers' fees are too high, said over 40 per cent of the laymen. But as the income of the clients increases, so does their degree of satisfaction with attorneys' fees.

Laymen generally thought that lawyers should initiate discussion of fees at the first meeting. They wanted a full explanation of the fee basis and an itemized bill.

The most important factor in setting legal fees, said the laymen, should be the effort the lawyer expends. Other factors mentioned often were the complexity of the case and the client's ability to pay.

Meat Eating In U.S. Sets Record

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Americans now eat more than their own weight in red meats each year. The average of 1963 is expected to pass 166 pounds.

Prosperity note: The United States has about two-thirds of the world's motor vehicles.

Odd legislation: Iceland passed a law requiring all children to learn to swim.

An awful lotta water: The Pacific Ocean is so huge that all the continents would easily fit into its 63.8 million square miles. Incidentally, we use about 5 million pounds of water per person annually.

Worth remembering: Comedian Marion Powers says that today inflation is simply a drop in the bucket.

Divided city: Despite the wall that keeps 53,000 East Berlin workers from their jobs in the Allied-occupied part of the city, West Berlin is still Germany's highest industrial center.

It produces one of every two light bulbs used in that nation, every second cigarette, and every third dress bought in Germany.

Nature notes: Rattlesnakes are found in every mainland state except Maine and possibly Delaware. Alligators don't count their calories—but during six or seven months of the year they usually don't eat. One survey showed that 43 per cent of chickens lay their eggs between 9 and 11 a.m.

Woman's work is getting easier all the time. Someone has figured out that only 30 per cent of the soup consumed in the United States is home-made.

The best wisecrack of the week: Actor Yul Brynner says he doesn't know whether rock 'n' here next week.

Withdrawal From Health Dept. Is Ruled Not Legal

LANSING (AP)—An attorney general's opinion held today that one county cannot withdraw from a district health department solely by resolution of the county board of supervisors.

Any action to disband a district health department or to permit the withdrawal of one county can only be taken by the district board of health, the opinion said.

The opinion was asked by Farrell Elliott, Chippewa County prosecuting attorney.

Dr. Albert Heustis, health commissioner, said Chippewa County sought to withdraw from a district health department composed of Chippewa, Luce and Mackinac counties. Chippewa had differences with the other counties about conduct of the department.

U.S. Sees Lake States As Top Recreational Resource

The Lake States, viewing their recreation business potential, have the assurance of the Federal Government that they are "one of the most opportunity-laden outdoor stages on the American scene."

This statement is a lead-off in the U.S. Department of Agriculture's new booklet "Resources and Recreation in the Northern Great Lakes Region."

An arc with a radius of 500 miles from the region's central area encompasses 25 per cent of the nation's people.

And while these recreational resources are as much as 500 miles remote from the great population belt to the south, this remoteness is relative and only in terms of today's transportation systems, and by the year 2000 — only 37 years away — the present concentration of nearly 50 million people within a day's travel of the area is expected to grow to over 90 million. The remoteness also tends to preserve recreational character.

The area described by the booklet is northeastern Minnesota, northern Wisconsin, the entire Upper Peninsula and the Lower Peninsula of Michigan to the Bay City line.

Unique Water Area

This region's land and water area of 56 million acres compares in size to the six New England states and half of New York state, but its 3 million acres of water surface distinguish it from all other American areas. And equally significant, recreationally is that four-fifths of the land is forested and that much of it bears mineral deposits.

"This provides the setting of woods, waters and mineral wealth which has shaped and molded people's work and their way of life," reports the task force which prepared the booklet, representing the Forest Service, the Soil Conservation Service and the Economic Research Service.

"Water is the lifeblood of much of the Northern Great Lakes Region. It is the keystone for future economic growth and social development."

"The waters of the Northern Great Lakes Region are better distributed, in greater supply, freer from pollution, freer from floods, and have smaller quantities of bothersome chemicals than in any other regional area of comparable size in the United States."

Govt. Ownership Large

"The region is in many ways an 'island.' Land area exceeds water area, but the bodies of water, from the Great Lakes to the inland lakes and ponds, provide a water-oriented setting."

"Public ownership is another dominant feature in the region. Nearly 40 pct. some 21 million acres, is public land administered by federal and state agencies, counties and other local governments. There are 1,600,000 people in the area with a work force of slightly over 560,000. Unemployment affects more than 9 pct. of the work force, nearly twice the national average."

"There are unused resources, millions of tons of ore to be mined, but mining is curtailed by competition from outside sources. New technologies hold some hope for improvement here."

"An annual supply of 150 million cubic feet of small, low-quality trees standing unused in the woods and accumulating each year bear mute testimony to underdevelopment. Markets for this material would put most of the region's unemployed to work."

In State of Change

"In this region, as in others where emphasis is on raw material production, a decline in either the demand for resources or in their supply adversely affects the livelihoods of much of the population. Today the region is in a state of change."

"This land of lakes and forests is a resource storehouse with much useful merchandise on the shelves, tended by industrious storekeepers."

"Resourceful, energetic people are taking strong, concerted action in many parts of the region. They are organizing themselves into development groups of many kinds. They seek a resurgence of the latent potentials of the region. Specific plans have been developed in many local areas. The need now is for action and implementation—and there are signs of this as well."

"The major market for most goods and services of this region lies at a considerable distance in miles and, particularly in travel time. Improved transportation facilities, for moving products to metropolitan markets and for moving people from metropolitan areas to recreation resources, are indispensable if this region is to expand outdoor recreation enterprises and other businesses are to make better use of the resources. It is especially important that:

Highway Needs

"1. Fund allocation formulas reflect the resources development needs of the region."

"2. High priority be given to the construction of north-south express-type highways."

"3. Access roads be provided from express-type highway interchanges to recreation facilities throughout the region."

"Agriculture has an important place in the regional economy, although the opportunities for success are limited in some subareas. This report suggests:

"1. Land capability maps and use recommendations are needed to guide farming in those areas likely to continue in agriculture."

"2. A larger volume of business is needed on many farms to provide adequate bases for farm family incomes."

"3. There is opportunity for using open grazing lands effectively by developing beef cattle production as an additional enterprise on present farms and as the main enterprise on ranch-type farms."

"4. In many situations there are opportunities for nontypical agricultural activities, such as production of native fruits and berries and farm recreation enterprises."

Forest Resource

"The timber resource is now grossly underused. Opportunities exist for aiding economic growth through additional development in forest products utilization, as:

"1. Emphasis on timber utilization by local planning and action groups."

"2. Intensification and acceleration of the forest inventory program to provide basic data for feasibility studies of forest industry development opportunities in localized areas."

"3. Development of new special forest products enterprises and expansion of existing enterprises."

"4. Improvement of marketing services and intensification of forest management."

Varied Enterprises

"Mixed and part-time employment are typical of this region. A wide variety of enterprises — large and small — is needed to support communities and rural areas. Expansion of these will require training and retraining in outdoor recreation management, and in farming, forestry, etc. These measures would be helpful:

"1. Making venture capital available."

"2. Localized land and people conferences."

"3. Programs for improved public relations with recreation visitors."

"4. Grants, loans and public works programs to develop and expand private enterprises and generate useful resource development."

"5. Programs to train and employ young men and women."

Recreation Business

"Outdoor recreation already is a proven enterprise in the region. Its potential is recognized, but not fully. Opportunities exist for expansion in familiar kinds of recreation services and activities. New kinds of recreation can be developed. New facilities and attractions to encourage tourism and enhance travel and scenic enjoyment are further possibilities. Suggested:

"1. Recreation use of water."

"2. Sound planning by zoning or other means to guide recreation development of high-value shoreline areas."

"3. Access to public land and water for recreation use, including hunting and fishing, needs greater emphasis."

"4. Broad-based promotion of recreation."

Accommodations Needed

"5. More high-quality lodging accommodations, other facilities and attractions are needed."

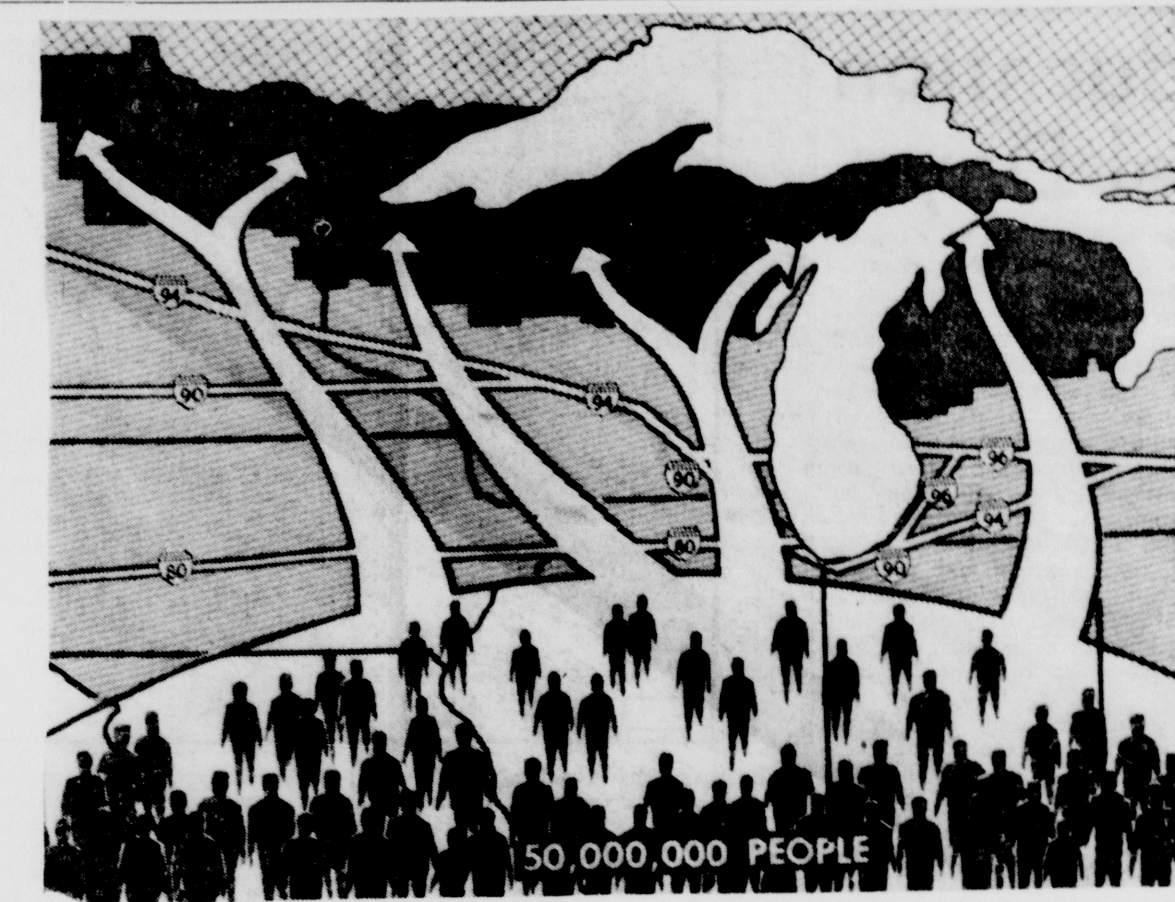

"6. The natural landscape of the region provides opportunity for emphasizing scenic roads, self-guided tours, and information centers."

"7. There is need for regional recreation centers located in towns or cities to provide services for tourists and function as collection and distribution points."

"8. A system of highways designed specifically for scenic enjoyment is needed for regional recreation development and would be an important tourist attraction."

Island Chapel

Point Plan For Jr. Drivers Urged

CADILLAC (AP)—A state legislator says he will introduce two bills aimed at weeding out youthful drivers with bad records and at those who buy alcoholic drinks by falsifying their operator's license.

Rep. John Toepp, R-Cadillac, said his first bill would bring 14, 15 and 16-year-old drivers under Michigan's point system.

He said these youths receive no points on their driver's license now because they are processed by probate courts on traffic violations. Toepp said the secretary of state's office receives no information on the driving convictions from probate courts.

His proposal would place drivers 16 and under in courts of adult jurisdiction for traffic misdemeanors only.

"If they want to drive a car, they should do so in accordance with a man's responsibility," Toepp said.

He said the other measure would require drivers under 21 to carry a green operator's license. This, Toepp said, would make it more difficult for minors to purchase alcoholic beverages by transposing birth date figures on their license.

Toepp said Gov. Romney, Secretary of State James Hare, and state police have previously spoken in favor of the proposals. He said he would submit the bills at the special Fall legislative session if Romney asks for action on traffic safety.

Fishermen Object

ALANSON (AP)—Orville Young, of Alanson, said petitions objecting to a proposed federal dam and lock in the Crooked River are being circulated in this Emmet County community. Young said opponents of the dam project feel it would hinder boaters and the free passage of fish.

Pipeline Gets OK On Clare Storage

WASHINGTON (AP)—Michigan Wisconsin Pipeline Co. of Detroit received tentative power commission authorization Monday to lease and operate a natural gas storage field in Clare County.

The field — known as North Hamilton — and other facilities there belong to the firm's affiliate Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. Michigan Wisconsin would build facilities estimated to cost $1.186 million.

The ruling will become a final commission order if no review is started within 30 days.

ROSEVILLE (AP)—A special four mill school tax increase, twice rejected in the past 18 months, was approved by Roseville voters Monday. Also approved was a five-year renewal of a six mill levy. Both millage proposals are for operating expenses.

Houghton Faces Loss Of Library

HOUGHTON (AP)—The City of Houghton stands to lose its public library within 30 days unless Portage Township, which includes Houghton, provides $7,500.

The library's doors already are closed, and a poster at the entrance says they will stay closed "until further notice."

Houghton residents thought $10,000 had been earmarked for the library at an annual public hearing before township officials, but Township Secretary Mrs. Florence Anderson says she has learned that under state law announcements at such meetings are not binding on township officials.

"The township does not have the money, inasmuch as it was spent on a bridge and other road repairs," she said. The officers of the township may consider the question Sept. 9.

Furniture Trade View Optimistic

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Furniture industry analysts Seidman & Seidman today said the economic upswing of general business holds "sufficient vitality to justify an extended life expectancy."

It prefaced their regular monthly furniture industry report. The report said new orders in July were up 8 per cent over those of July 1962. Shipments were up 11 per cent and unfilled orders were up 3 per cent over those in July a year ago.

Bonds Turned Down

UTICA (AP)—A $3 million bond issue proposal for construction of a new high school was rejected by voters, 1,446 to 1,287 Monday. They also turned down a proposed five-year, 3.5 mill increase for school operating expenses, 1,668 to 1,314.

Michigan's Higher Education Dates From Territorial Days

By JEAN WORTH

"The Michigan Record in Higher Education" by Dr. Willis F. Dunbar, chairman of the Department of History at Western Michigan University and a member of the Michigan Historical Commission since 1949, is an unsurpassed account of how Michigan's schooling has developed its present system of higher education.

The big book is the product of an immense amount of research by Dr. Dunbar. Erudite W. K. Kelsey, the commentator of the Detroit News was surprised by its revelation that to get James Burrill Angell to accept the presidency of the University of Michigan in 1817 the regents promised to renovate the president's house, install a furnace and a water closet, the latter the first such convenience in Ann Arbor.

By the time the regents got around to Dr. Angell (big Angell Hall on Campus is named for him) they were ready to make concessions because he was the fourth person they tried to get for the job. The first person approached turned it down out of hand; the other two visited Ann Arbor, looked around and left.

First Colleges

The book does not neglect the human side of the evolution of Michigan's higher education, but it is seriously devoted to the substance of it.

When Michigan was organized as a territory in 1805 there were fewer than 30 colleges and universities in the United States, 9 of which had been established before the American Revolution. The Colonial colleges, starting with Harvard in 1638 were all oriented toward religion. The influence of the church on higher education reached far back into the Middle Ages when few people outside the clergy were even literate.

While the objective of the Colonial College was essentially religious, the means to this objective was knowledge of the liberal arts. Generations of learned men had admired Athens of the 5th Century B. C. It was the fountainhead of the arts and sciences that helped him understand his world, his fellow men and his place in the universe. "It is one of the great ironies in the history of higher education that they (the leaders of our colleges) sought to attain this objective (knowledge of God) largely by the study of literature written by pagans," says Dr. Dunbar.

Spirit of Revolution

Controversy over the role of church and state in the control of colleges appears only near the close of the Colonial period and to some degree, says Dr. Dunbar, reflects the spirit which brought the American Revolution. There slowly evolved in the colleges a form of government sharply different from the European pattern. Harvard had a president and fellows in control of the institution, but there was also a board of overseers to insure ultimate control by the Colonial government. But 60 years later Yale was founded with only one governing board including clergy, government officials and laymen and this Yale plan became the American plan and made American colleges more susceptible to popular demand than those in Europe.

Higher education in Michigan began when the governor and judges of the territory on Aug. 26, 1817 adopted an act establishing "the Catholopistemiad, or University, of Michigan." It was to consist of 13 professorships ranging from universal science to military science. To finance the undertaking the act proclaimed that "existing public taxes are hereby increased 15 per cent and from the proceeds of the present, and of all future public taxes, 15 per cent are appropriated for the benefit of the University." It was also given the right to draw four successive lotteries, deducting from the prizes in them 15 per cent for the university. Modest fees were prescribed and the act provided that if the judges of any county court should certify that any person lacked means to pay for instruction, the honorarium should be paid from the treasury of Michigan.

Population Grows

The grandiose conception of the act and its impracticability in a Michigan so sparsely populated in 1817 invited derision, but the act shows the vision of its authors of Michigan's future need of education.

The population began to grow with opening of the Erie Canal in 1825 and in 1826 the Legislative Council passed laws to establish elementary and grammar schools. Secondary (high) schools called academies and seminaries at the time, sprang up on basis of private, community or church initiative. Charters were granted

Munson Fund

Second book to be published under auspices of the John M. Munson Fund is "The Michigan Record in Higher Education." First was "Michigan in Four Centuries."

Dr. John M. Munson, who was a printer's devil on the old Menominee Herald, a teacher of the Hammerberg School, Carney and president of Northern Michigan State Normal College, the progenitor of Northern Michigan University, left his personal fortune to the Munson Fund, established in 1950.

The Fund devoted to publication of aids to Michigan education culminates a lifetime of service to the state by Dr. Munson.

to 12 academies and many more were established by private schoolmasters. Two schools chartered in 1833 and 1835 were the progenitors of Kalamazoo College and Albion College.

Michigan adopted a state constitution in 1835 and a state government went into operation that year although Michigan wasn't admitted to the Union until 1837.

Federal aid to education antedates adoption of the U. S. Constitution. Section 16 of each town ship was set aside for the support of schools in the Ordinance of 1785 and later Congress provided lands for higher education. Other public lands were granted to the states for aid to education after Michigan was admitted to the Union. In 1862 the Morrill Act gave states public lands for establishment of colleges for farmers and mechanics.

Clergyman Faculty

The preponderance of clergymen on the early University of Michigan faculty was notable and characteristic of colleges of the time. The regents were careful to choose ministers of the four leading denominations in the state—Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian and Episcopal—for professorial positions. Enrollment of students increased steadily but slowly until 89 were enrolled in 1847, then declined to 57 in 1851 in a dispute over fraternities and sectarian squabbling.

In the reform movements that swept the nation from 1830 until the Civil War education received widespread attention and three influences came to Michigan: advocacy of normal schools to train teachers, colleges for farmers and mechanics, and education for women.

The Legislature authorized the first normal school and Ypsilanti got it by offering a cash donation of $13,500, temporary rooms and an annual principal salary of $700 for five years. It opened in 1853.

On Feb. 12, 1855 there was signed into law a bill creating the Agricultural College of the State of Michigan. John C. Holmes, a Detroit merchant, got the bill through the legislature. We know the institution today as Michigan State University.

First Coed

The first academic degree granted to a female in Michigan was a Bachelor of Science degree to Elizabeth D. Camp of Palmyra, N. Y., at Michigan Central College at Spring Arbor, the predecessor of Hillsdale College, in 1851. Miss Madelon Stockwell of Kalamazoo was the first woman student at the University of Michigan. She received her degree in 1872.

In 1875 Peter White of Marquette, who was a member of the State Senate, introduced a bill for the establishment of a second state normal school in the Upper Peninsula. The bill passed in the Senate but was defeated in the House under heavy opposition from the University of Michigan and Michigan State Normal School. In 1875 the Legislature took a step backward and repealed the county superintendent of schools act and returned grant of teacher certificates to the townships.

When Central Michigan Normal School at Mount Pleasant was created in 1895 pressure for such a school in the U. P. increased and in 1899 the Legislature passed an act establishing Northern State Normal School in Marquette. The law said the institution should be within a mile and a half of the Marquette post office on a tract of land at least 20 acres in extent and an initial appropriation of $25,000 for buildings and $10,000 for salaries for two years was made.

Michigan Tech

On June 5, 1899 Marquette voters approved a bond issue of $5,000 to meet the requirements of the act by a margin of 318 to 9. Northern State Normal School opened on Sept. 19, 1899 with 32 students enrolled.

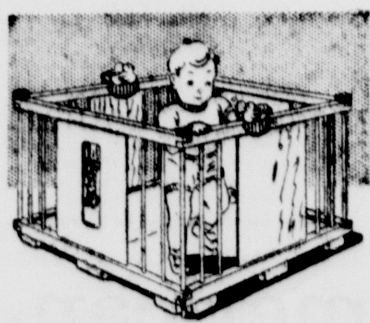

The Legislature in 1855 established the School of Mines at Houghton. Its annual tuition to Michigan residents in 1900 was only $25, but non-residents were required to pay $150. Now the Michigan College of Science and Technology has Ford Forestry Center, a Bureau of Mineral Research, Forest Products Research Division and a branch at Sault Ste. Marie.

Finnish leaders in the Upper Peninsula in 1896 founded Suomi College and Theological Seminary at Hancock. It was a project of the Finnish Lutheran Church and its primary purpose was to provide training for Lutheran ministers who could speak the Finnish language to serve the population of Finnish speaking people who had migrated to the Upper Peninsula during the boom periods in copper and iron mining.

Few ministers came with these migrants and there was need to supply them here to care for the spiritual needs of the Finnish people. The college expanded its services and today is the only institution of higher learning in America offering courses in Finnish.

American farms are getting larger and more valuable. U.S. Department of Agriculture figures show that farm real estate market prices moved to new highs during the period March 1962 to March 1963. Average market value of all farm real estate in the 48 continental states rose 4 per cent. Estimated value reached $144 billion, up $6 billion from the previous year. Average value per farm climbed to $45,000, up from $42,000; average per-acre price rose from $124 to $130. Wisconsin was the only state to register a decline. Farm price extremes ranged from $264 an acre in the Pacific States down to $48 an acre in the Mountain States.

Hotel Industry Warns Detroit On Night Club Plans

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit's civic center commission was warned Monday to look for a "full scale battle" if it builds a night club in Cobo Hall.

The statement was made by James J. Rossie, attorney for the Detroit Hotel Association and major downtown cocktail lounges. "We are opposed to either a restaurant or night club in Cobo hall," he told the commission. Rossie added that hotels and cabarets "paid over a million dollars in taxes last year and employ more than 3,400 persons."

"They have contributed toward building Cobo Hall and have given thousands of dollars in complimentary food, rooms and service to promote the convention business," he said.

The commission said it would study the objections before going ahead with the Cobo Hall night club project. The commission decided last month to construct a $75,000 facility on the hall's third floor.

Chambers Asked To Join Walk

ST. IGNACE—Over 200 Chambers of Commerce in Michigan, including the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, have been invited by the Mackinac Bridge Authority to participate in the annual Labor Day morning bridge walk.

The chambers have been invited to send delegations of walkers dressed in special costumes to Mackinaw City at 10:15 a. m. and symbolize some unique feature of their local community: sports, industry, festivals, products, cultural activities, etc. A grand prize trophy will be awarded to the chamber which best dramatizes its attractions. Each entry will receive a free photograph of its group, taken by official Mackinac Bridge photographer, Herman Ellis.

Lawrence Rubin, executive secretary of the Mackinac Bridge Authority, said the event has been planned with an eye toward dramatizing Michigan offerings for the tourist, residents, and new industry.

Rubin said that this is the only time in the year when pedestrians are permitted to walk across the Mackinac Bridge. The general public walk will start from the Mackinaw City at 10:15 a. m. and ends at noon in St. Ignace.

Alabama, with an average rainfall of about 69 inches, is the wettest state in the United States.

Second reading, public hearing and adoption of ordinances are scheduled to amend the house trailer ordinance and the city dog ordinance.

Other business will include authorizing deeds to correct land descriptions in the area south of Memorial Field; consideration of plans for compensation for newly created positions under Civil Service; and consideration of a two-hour parking limit on the recently widened streets off Ludington.

Waiver of residence requirements for a part-time librarian is to receive Council attention; and a final report on Escanaba's Centennial is to be presented.

Non-Operating Employees Get 5-Day Notice

IRON RIVER — The distinct possibility of a nationwide railroad strike Thursday has prompted the Chicago and North Western railroad to give notice to local non-operating employees, that they face a lay off if the strike of operating trainmen occurs as scheduled.

The railroad is required to give its non-operating workers at least five days notice of an impending lay-off.

About 18 non operating railroad workers in the Iron River district would be affected by the lay off if the strike takes place.

The rail strike, if it comes, would tie up iron ore shipments from the Menominee range and the Gogebic area.

At the present time, two ore trains daily, leave the Stambaugh yards bound for the ore docks at Escanaba, and one train a day passes through the district en route to Escanaba from the Gogebic range.

In addition, a way freight serves Watersmeet on Tuesdays and Thursdays and one train of empty ore cars from Escanaba passes through Stambaugh en route to the Gogebic range each day.

Wednesday that touched off the new crisis.

Diem Blamed

Police and soldiers broke into pagodas and arrested hundreds of monks and nuns in an attempt to halt Buddhist demonstrations against the government of diem, a Roman Catholic. Buddhists, whose protests have included ritual suicides by fire, claim they have been deprived of freedom to practice their religion. Diem has denied it.

In involving the military, Washington appeared to be placing the blame on Diem or his brother, Nhu.

The entire diplomatic staff of South Viet Nam's embassy in Washington resigned Monday to protest "repressive measures against Buddhists, professors and students." Diem's ambassador to the United States quit in protest last week.

and a rope, he remarked that the ride feels "like a chute-chute at Coney Island."

Near the top he asked, "What kind of a moon is out?" When told there was no moon, he quipped: "No moon?" Holy mackerel! There, Andy."

When Throne, wearing an orange helmet and blue coveralls laced with the lifting strap, hit the surface, the crowd broke into a tumultuous shout.

"He's up! He's up!" There was applause, cheers and whistles when Throne was rushed past the crowd to a waiting helicopter. He was wrapped in a blanket and appeared exhausted. Throne reported he had plenty of room coming up the shaft, so much that he was bouncing around and hitting the sides of the rescue hole.

"Best Ride Ever!"

"Keep on going! Keep on going!" Fellin shouted as he came up. "This is the best ride I ever had."

At one point he sang a few bars from "She'll Be Coming Around the Mountain." Then he asked those on the surface: "Do you want another song?" He was told to wait until he reached the surface.

Fellin was snugged in the lines about half-way up but he was quickly freed.

"She's doing nicely," he said. "Keep coming. It's working like a clock. Happy New Year. Everything's okay! A beautiful ride."

Fellin also was cheered as he reached the surface. He covered his eyes with one hand and the point of a blanket and waved feebly with his white, gloved right hand. His face was grimy like Throne's. He was wearing a blue plaid shirt over his coveralls.

Official In Tears

Gordon H. Smith, deputy state secretary of mines, broke into tears as Fellin reached the surface. Fellin, who has been a miner since he was 15, spent several minutes talking with various persons in the first aid tent. They included Charmbury and Smith.

Fellin and Throne directed much of the rescue operation via a microphone lowered of them. They had been given up for dead before the lifeline hole reached them on Aug. 18.

Throne and Fellin spent 329 hours in their tiny, dark, cold cubicle on a steep slant whose upper end is about 308 feet from the surface.

This is where the escape hole reached them Monday night after three attempts and hours of drilling and patience.

"Take it up! Take it up!" Fellin shouted dramatically as a giant drilling rig churned through to complete the escape hole at 6:23 p.m.

"Good Job"

Smith commanded Mike Rank, the drill operator: "Take it up, Mike. Take it all the way up, Mike. You did a good job."

Workers ran an American flag up on the 65-ton drilling rig. Watching from about 200 yards away, the wives of Throne and Fellin cried tears of joy. Bova's wife bowed her head, holding back tears.

"We'll even feel better tomorrow when we can hold their hands and I'll be getting the best bartender back into my tavern," said Mrs. Throne as she wiped away tears.

"Oh, I'm so happy, so happy," cried Mrs. Fellin. "I'm still shaking. It's one week and six days and a half. I said he'd be up by Sunday but I'm not going to holler at him because he was a day late."

Workers jumped into the air, cheered and laughed.

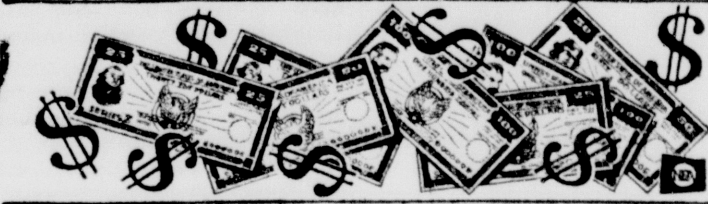

Charmbury said the 18-inch shaft for Bova would be started about six feet east of the six-inch lifeline hole through which Throne and Fellin received supplies.

Asked if he thought Bova was still alive, Charmbury said: "Fellin said it was possible that he is still alive."

State Unloads School Burden

LANSING (AP)—Dr. Lynn Bartlett, superintendent of public instruction, said today increased support for schools from a combination of sources should be "top priority" in the special legislative session this fall.

Bartlett, in his annual report on the condition and progress of Michigan's public schools, said non-property taxes and increased use of federal funds should be included.

He noted that while the proportion of state support for public schools has decreased from 52 per cent to 41 per cent in the last 10 years, local districts have seen their share go up from 43.5 to 55.4 per cent.

The state gave schools $34 million more in 1962-63 than in the previous year, he said, but "this does not represent an equitable share of the additional revenue needed to accommodate increased enrollments and costs of operation."

Bartlett said public school enrollment in 1962-63 rose to 1,793,658 from the figure of 1,733,705 in the previous year. Some 1,846,000 pupils are expected to enroll this year.

Another 340,000 youths will attend non-public schools this year.

He said a first-time survey taken by the state last fall indicated that 5,000 teachers employed in the previous school year did not return to their jobs in 1962-63.

This, he said, in addition to some 3,000 new teaching posts opening up each year, emphasizes a problem in securing fully qualified teachers.

New Students At Rapid River May Enroll This Week

Schools in Rapid River will open Tuesday, Sept. 3 and any new students may register for the rest of this week.

Grade school pupils, kindergarten through sixth grades, may enroll at the superintendent's office or call GR4-9411.

Any new enrollees for grades seven through 12 can contact the principal's office or call GR4-9211.

During the summer an inspection was made to determine the structural soundness of the high school building. Consulting engineers from the firm of Graef, Anhalt and Schloemer, of Milwaukee, determined the building safe for use.

Children's Day At Michigan Fair

Fair officials are reducing rates on the rides at Kiddie Playland, a junior-sized midway. The fair has had 358,862 visitors since it opened Friday night, compared with 322,310 at this stage last year. Monday's attendance was 72,763.

May Cut Rail Service In U. P.

There is a strong indication that Iron Mountain, with other Upper Peninsula communities on the line of the Milwaukee Road, is about to lose another segment of passenger service, unless there is a sharp increase in patronage before Sept. 1.

This was made known this week to the Dickinson County Area Chamber of Commerce in a letter from William Wallace, general passenger traffic manager of the Milwaukee Road at Chicago.

Wallace pointed out that the Pullman sleeping car, which operates on the Milwaukee Road's Copper Country Limited, is incurring a substantial deficit in operating.

The Pullman car is jointly operated by the Milwaukee Road and the Soo Line, but the Milwaukee Road absorbs all of the expense and deficit on this Pullman car operation.

The sleeping car has eight duplex roomettes, six single roomettes, and four double bedrooms, giving a wide range of accommodations. The sleeping car service between Chicago and Iron Mountain has been in operation since 1893.

Wallace, in a letter to the Dickinson Chamber, said a decision on the matter will be deferred until at least Sept. 1. "During this time," he said, we are going to take additional advertising at various points served by the Copper Country Limited to see if we can increase the patronage to overcome this deficit as we definitely need additional patronage to insure continuance of this Pullman sleeping car."

Student Guests Of Castro Face Possible Charges

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Fifty-four American students, who encountered the State Department's wrath by going to Cuba and Fidel Castro's red tape in getting out, hope to leave Madrid for New York Thursday.

Another student, Barry Hoffman, 26, of Brookline, Mass., left Cuba with the group Sunday but got off the airliner in Bermuda and flew to New York Monday. A State Department agent took up his passport and the FBI questioned him. Hoffman declined to talk to newsmen.

All 55 students face possible prosecution for violating a State Department ban on unauthorized travel to Cuba.

The students were forced to take the 8,000-mile route, instead of a 90-mile hop from Havana to Miami, because of the U.S. ban on unauthorized travel between the United States and Cuba.

The students flew to Cuba via Prague, Czechoslovakia.

Living Costs Hit New High

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of living rose in July by one half of one per cent to a record high for the second consecutive month, the Labor Department reported today.

With food and gasoline leading the way, prices advanced for most major types of goods and services.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the July consumer price index was 107.1, compared to the 1957-59 base of 100.

This means it cost $10.71 in July to buy the same items that could be bought for $10 in the 1957-59 period.

The July index standing was 1.5 per cent above a year ago, primarily, the bureau said, because of higher prices for food, housing, medical care and tobacco.

The July increase was the biggest since September of last year. Despite this, Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner of the bureau, characterized the overall situation of the past year as "reasonably stable."

As a result of the July cost increase, living allowances based on quarterly reviews were increased by 1 to 3 cents an hour for about 1,025,000 workers, primarily in the automotive, aerospace, and the farm and construction equipment industries. Of these 775,000 will receive a 2-cent an hour increase in the automotive industry.

Increases for 25,000 other workers, largely in the trucking and cartage industry, will range from 1 to 8 cents. Sixteen thousand employees will receive 2.5 to 4.5 cents an hour based on reviews of city indexes.

College Girls In Favor Of Many Looks For Fall

Cottons styled for college and career girls favor many individual looks interpreted in a mixture of colors and textures.

Layered Look

The "layered" look is one of the most important with jumpers, vests, slim knit dresses, long-sleeved shirts and skirts designed to go with each other and over each other. This look affords limitless variety for campus and career wardrobes.

A ribbed, wide wale corduroy jumper in Sandringham blue is worn with a multicolor striped turtle neck cotton knit dress for the "layered" look.

In another "layered" design a bateau-necked shift dress in brick red cotton suede is worn over a long-sleeved calico blouse. For the third dimension a suede jacket is added.

The "scrambled" look, a variation of the "layered" look, endorses a seemingly haphazard mixing of colors and textures.

One version of the "scrambled" look combines a cranberry red cotton suede weatit and mallard blue cotton suede skirt with a multicolor patchwork print blouse in broadcloth and a quilted cotton jacket in the patchwork print.

Another "scrambled" campus outfit combines jacket, vest, pants and blouse in a medley of colorful textured cottons. A brick red Chanel type corduroy jacket tops a navy corduroy vest worn over a printed broadcloth ascot blouse and biscuit colored corduroy pants.

Jumper Look

The jumper look has many variations. Street-length jumpers for office and classroom favor bateau or V-necklines, slim or slightly flared shapes, dropped shoulders and lowered waistlines, accented with belts, or no waistlines at all.

A new slim corduroy jumper, tied with a spaghetti self-belt or not, features the dropped shoulder originated by St. Laurent. Buttons down the back and a jewel neckline are 1963 details.

Suited Look

The "suited" look favors Eastern or safari type styling. A wide wale curly colored corduroy suit has characteristic black frog closings and a black velvet mandarin collar. The safari influence is seen in many-pocketed and belted suit jackets. A teal blue cot-

School cottons mix expertly. A patchwork printed cotton blouse coordinated with cotton suede jerkin in cranberry and skirt in blue.

It's Time To Pretty Up To Greet School Chums

Late summer sales of household sale. But, the theory is to economize on simple-but-sturdy towels more than passing thought to the children and our every-bathroom supplies. Frayed towels day use. Then you will have one might better be retired to "swim- or two really pretty, luxurious ming pool only" duty and a new sets waiting for special occasions, bath ensemble selected. not only for company but for the family, too.

Not all the handsome new patterns in bath towelings will be on. The surprise today is the variety of patterns and colors on tap for the bathroom. Besides towels, there are accessories which have great freshness and imagination. For example, the saucy Italian imports that turn the old toothbrush holder into a brightly colored pierced cup with matching flower-shaped containers for cologne and soap.

Brass and wrought iron accessories also shine. The Spanish influence is there and so is the French look of ornate chic. It might take a curlicue or two to handle some of the new prints in bathroom towels.

One of the most interesting towels—and elegant—is a new, detailed, screen-print Provence toile pattern printed on good old, thick, lint-free terry cloth. New manufacturing techniques are responsible for the velvety textures you'll find.

With these elegant new towels, washability is still a prime factor. Wash them as you would any towel but don't let them get overly soiled, thus requiring heavy bleaching. Add a fabric-softener about every two or three launderings.

Phyllis Traut, Donald M. Risk Wed In Pasadena

Phyllis Jeanne Traut, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Joseph Traut of Pasadena, Calif., and Donald Milford Risk, also of Pasadena, were united in marriage in a high noon ceremony at Saint Philip the Apostle Church, Pasadena, Aug. 24. Mrs. Traut is the former Myrtle Erickson of Escanaba.

The bride was preceded to the altar by three bridesmaids, Barbara Becker, Ann Hall and Mrs. Donald S. Leja. They wore identical formal dresses styled with bell-shaped skirts with short trains, in pastel shades of green, pink and yellow. The bride's sister, Nancy, was maid of honor and she wore the same type of dress in white. Each carried a bouquet of white carnations with accents of colored carnations to match her ensemble.

JoLynn and Stanley Leja, the bridegroom's niece and nephew, were flower girl and ring bearer. The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a bell-shaped dress of silk organza and chantilly lace with a chapel length train. Her four-tiered veil was fashioned of silk illusion and was held by a crystal crown. She carried a bouquet of ivy, lily-of-the-valley, white roses, carnations and camellias.

Best man was Donald Leja. The ushers were Jack McConaghy, Michael Gallagher and Larry Verheilig.

After a honeymoon to Las Vegas, the couple will be at home in Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Traut vacationed in Escanaba for the Centennial. The bride is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. August Erickson of Escanaba.

Detroit Story Tells Of Miss Michigan's Plans

An interesting story on the present activities and future plans of Kathleen Kay McLaughlin, of Ishpeming, Miss Michigan of 1963, written by Harvey Taylor, staff writer, appears in a recent issue of the Detroit Free Press.

Mr. Taylor writes: Some of her young charges will never see the flashing brown, Irish eyes of the new Miss Michigan when she enters a teaching career.

Others will never hear her soft, friendly voice. That's because Kathleen Kay McLaughlin, of Ishpeming, who won the state title in Muskegon last month, and who will compete for the Miss America title Sept. 7, plans to devote her life to the teaching of blind and deaf children. To this end she'll be taking a fifth year of training at the University of Minnesota, where she's already completed her undergraduate work.

"Teaching these handicapped children is a challenge," she said, "because it also involves teaching their parents how to carry on the training we will give them in schools. I don't care whether I teach in a special school or the department of a public school system created to handle the education of the blind and the deaf. The problem is always the same."

She's no stranger to work. She partially financed her college education by working in local department stores, baby sitting and serving as swimming counselor in a girl's camp.

She's an expert swimmer and she likes to bowl and plays a pretty fair round of golf.

Kathy is making her first visit to the major city of her domain—to grace the float of her sponsors, the Pepsi-Cola Bottling, of Detroit, Friday evening in the Michigan State Fair parade. The Pepsi $1,000 scholarship, a regular prize for state title winners, will help pay for the extra training.

Many Titles

The 22-year-old beauty—34-23-35—is almost five feet seven and weighs 120 pounds. These dimensions and the way she handles them were not exactly an obstacle in her becoming the first girl from the Upper Peninsula to capture the state title.

But she's become accustomed to winning titles. In 1958, she was Ishpeming High School's Homecoming Queen. The following winter, she was Snow Queen.

In the fall of 1961 she was Sweetheart of Sigma Chi in her junior year at college. The following year she was official hostess at the Midwest Logging Congress in her home town.

"I got into the Miss Michigan contest, almost by accident," she said Thursday. "One day a family friend called from a Junior Chamber of Commerce luncheon and said: 'Kathy, I notice your name isn't posted as an entrant. I'm posting now and you've got exactly a half-hour to decide whether you're in or out.'"

She credits her younger brother, Mike, 17, for a fast talking bit of "hard sell" that convinced her. "He said: 'Look at what you'll get if you win. What can you lose?' and kept pounding away at this theme until he convinced me. This was the first time Ishpeming had entered the contest and I figured I'd never have a chance. But winning was wonderful," she said.

Full Year To Reign

During her reigning year she'll forget school and devote full time to the demands of the office. She and her mother, Mrs. William (Ruth) McLaughlin, will live in Muskegon. Her dad, who's manager of the Ishpeming J. C. Penney store, will stay home with Mike and Kathy's younger sister, Patricia, 13.

She's beginning to enjoy, quite candidly, the prerequisites of her crown.

"I don't mind saying that I'm meeting people and going places I'd never dreamed of. Of course, I want to become Miss America. One reason is that I want to travel all I can and that would be the open sesame to it," she explained.

"Do you know I've never flown on one of the big, commercial airlines? I took a couple of helicopter rides though at the World's Fair in Seattle."

"One the pilot couldn't land because Billy Graham's machine got to the 'copter port first. He and my cousin and I circled for 20 minutes instead of the seven we'd paid for and when we landed photographers, thinking we were somebody famous, rushed up and started snapping pictures. What a laugh."

Perhaps it wouldn't be such a laugh now.

Ann Landers

Daddy Was Skunk

Dear Ann Landers: Since you fancy yourself as infallible, this letter may come as a real blow. You have erred.

A flabby handshake — you call it a "dead fish" — does not necessarily mean the person lacks enthusiasm or interest. Sometimes it simply means the poor guy has arthritis. I know because for years I've suffered with the problem, and it's an affliction I wouldn't wish on the devil himself.

So 10 lashes with a wet noodle to you, Toots. This one was a first-class blooper. — DON'T SHAKE, JUST NOD

Dear Don't Shake: My sincere apologies to you and to all others who are similarly afflicted. I had no idea so many people suffer from arthritis in their hands. I think I heard from most of them.

I contritely accept the 10 lashes, and now, let's shake hands and be friends. Pardon me — we'll just nod.

Dear Ann Landers: Has the time come for me to roll the skeleton out of the closet and tell my children their father was a skunk? He has been dead 15 years, and because I have kept his halo shining his children believe he was a saint.

True, he was good to his family, but the man was immoral to the core. I put up with one love affair after another — even an out-of-wedlock child whom he quietly supported.

I'm now going with a man who would be an idea husband for my sunset years. We plan to marry in 1966 when we both retire. Until then we must settle for visiting one another. When I go to his city I stay with him (in his apartment) because I can't afford a hotel.

Two of my children have stopped talking to me because of this love affair. The others are turning mighty cool. They feel my behavior is indecent. When my oldest son said, "What do you think dad would say about this?" I was tempted to unload the whole story then and there. Would I be justified — KEEPER OF THE CLOS-ET KEYS.

Dear Keeper: Sorry, Mother, but throwing rotten eggs at your husband's tombstone after keeping it neatly polished for 15 years will not justify your own conduct in the eyes of your children.

You say you can't afford to stay in a hotel. I say, if you want the respect of your family—or anyone else—you can't afford NOT to stay in a hotel.

Dear Ann Landers: I think you missed a bet with your reply to "Can't Figure It"—the person who wanted to know why some folks who have a lot of money and live high sometimes cry poor mouth.

My husband and I might be considered in this category so I feel qualified to speak up. We both worked hard in our younger days, we made good investments and, with a little luck, we managed to get pretty well set.

Some of our friends and relatives who have had a difficult time financially often complain about their bills and how rough they are having it. My husband and I have discovered it makes them feel better if we cry along with them. The old saying, "Misery loves company" is true.

I believe that because of this policy nobody resents us or what we have. So pass the word, will you, Ann — CROCODILE TEARS.

Dear Croc: Consider it passed. And while you're crying, Doll, drop a tear for me, will you please?

U. P. Factory Hand Finished College; To Teach School

MENOMINEE—Ben A. Jerzyk, 45, who quit his job as a laborer two years ago to finish college, will teach 10th grade English at Menominee high school in the 1963-64 term.

The father of five children was graduated earlier this month from Northern Michigan university at Marquette.

Jerzyk quit school as a youth and did not receive his high school diploma until 1952, after military service.

Jerzyk then took a leave of absence from a Menominee factory in February, 1961, to enter Northern Michigan.

Escanaba Mead Paper Co. is the toast of the Upper Peninsula Class B softball world today after capturing the regional championship in a rugged weekend grind . . . The Paper Makers parlayed brilliant pitching and timely hitting by Todd Butler, superb base running and outstanding defensive play to reach the top of the U. P. heap . . . The 2-0 victory over Canadian Soo's Redlegs in the title game was a softball classic . . . Some of the largest crowds in recent years brought back memories of the "good old" days in the sport here.

Richard Ludwig, here to promote Pete Bosanic's bid for the Michigan middleweight boxing championship Saturday night, is extremely pleased with the response of fans in the region . . . "Everyone is talking about the fight and it looks like we'll have a crowd," he told fans at a visit to Memorial Field Sunday night . . . In response to a query as to how he figured Bosanic would make out against Davis, Ludwig stated: "One thing I'm sure of, this will be a tremendous fight. Both boys are good boxers and can punch. Pete is in perfect physical condition, looked real good in his last workout with Willie Greaves in Detroit and is determined to win the state title for his Upper Peninsula fans."

Iron Mountain, a late-season Eskymo football foe, lost 17 lettermen from the squad that fashioned a 6-2 season record last fall . . . Coach Frank Guskis has eight returning letter winners but was greeted by a small turnout of newcomers this year . . . The Mountaineers have had trouble scrimmaging because of lack of players.

At Calumet, Coach Warren (Whitey) Wilson, former outstanding Manistique and Northern University athlete, was greeted by a turnout of 115 grid candidates this year . . . Included are 17 lettermen from last fall . . . The Copper Kings have only six games scheduled this year, including a game against Holy Name Oct. 19 at the Gladstone gridiron.

Bill Popp, graduate of Northern this year, has been named head basketball and assistant football coach at L'Anse High School . . . Popp, an outstanding college grinder, is a native of Johnstown, Pa., and attended the University of Arizona before transferring to Northern.

Coach Jerry Cvensgrof's Escanaba Eskymos will be shooting for their fifth straight victory over Menominee in the 1963 football opener here Saturday at 2:30 . . . Maroon coach John Knispel has eight returning lettermen in John LeBouton, Ron Valich, Dave Sharkus, Tom Kohrt, Bob Bertrand, Roger Benesh, Dave Nelson and Walter Rademacher . . . Knispel's biggest concern is lack of depth.

Wanted By Dodgers: Bat With Base Hits

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Wanted: Man to join first-rate firm. Short hours. Good salary. Bonus in October. If successful, Only requirement—must have bat with base hits. Call collect, Walt Alston, Los Angeles Dodgers. HURRY.

There's no doubt that's the Dodgers' big need.

Jim O'Toole again emphasized the fact Monday night, holding the National League leaders to a mere five hits as the Cincinnati Reds survived a two-men-on-the-same-base situation and posted a 3-1 victory.

It was the Dodgers' fourth loss in the last five games, and trimmed their lead to 5½ games over second-place St. Louis, Los Angeles now has managed to score only four runs in the last 35 innings and collected just 36 hits in five games.

The only Dodger regular hitting over .300 is Tommy Davis, the defending batting champion who is stroking away at a .328 clip. No Dodger is among the leaders in home runs or runs batted in and collectively the team is hitting a meek .250.

The Reds pulled a page from the Dodgers' book and wound up with two men on second base in the sixth inning after Vada Pinson singled and Frank Robinson walked. Pinson was picked off, and in the rundown, both runners stood staring at each other on second. Robinson was ruled out.

The Cardinals took the runner-up spot by beating San Francisco

Only Three Regulars Back On Manistique Grid Squad

MANISTIQUE—With only three returning regulars from last year's squad on hand, and one of them slowed down with injuries suffered in a motor scooter accident, Coach Dick Bonifas faces a big rebuilding job on his Manistique Emeralds.

Returning regulars are halfback Ken Blowers, quarterback Jim McDonough and tackle Mike Sheppard.

Also back in action will be nine players who earned letters as reserves last year when the Emeralds posted a 4-3-1 record. They are Francis Derwin, Steve Derousha, Dewaine Dixon, Jim Love, Dan Malloy, Murray Patz, Francis Weber, Richard Hoholik and Paul Harris.

Blowers is recuperating from the injuries suffered in the scooter accident.

Bonifas and assistant Bob Ebli had another fine turnout for their grid call this fall. Currently there are 15 seniors, 28 juniors and 14 sophomores on the varsity squad. The Emeralds may have to count heavily on members of last year's undefeated jayvee team.

"Our prospects would seem to be fair despite our inexperience," Bonifas states. "We have good depth and three quarterbacks in McDonough, Darryl Carlson and Douglas Nelson. Competition is keen for starting positions, spirit, condition and attendance at practice have been excellent."

The Emeralds had good size on their squad this year. Roger Lustila is the biggest player at 265. Harold Toennesson is 236, Jim Love 235 and Marshall Patz 208.

The Emeralds have a delayed season opener, holding off until Sept. 7 to play their first game at Munising in a Great Lakes Conference outing.

Pete Denman and Dennis Barnes are student managers.

The Manistique schedule: Sept. 7—Munising there Sept. 13—Marquette here Sept. 20—Negaunee there Sept. 27—Petoskey there Oct. 5—Gladstone here Oct. 11—Newberry here Oct. 18—Stephenson here Oct. 25—Holy Name here

Wolverines Get Fast Grid Start

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The University of Michigan's football squad, still smarting from last year's disastrous (2-7) season, got off to a flying start ahead of its Big Ten competition Monday with a double workout and a special session for news photographers.

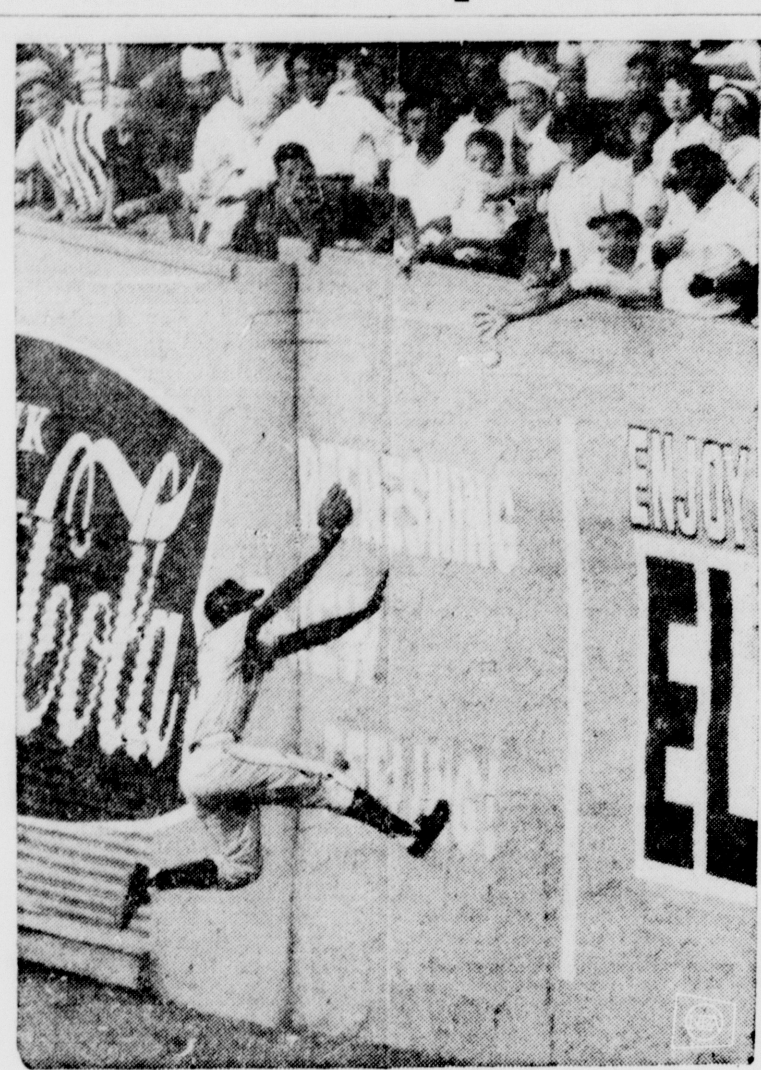

The Wolverines' 92 strong-started drills almost a week earlier than their conference rivals because of Michigan's new year-round classroom schedule. Classes open Sept. 3, instead of the third week in September as in previous years.

Coach Bump Elliott was greeted by 26 of his 27 returning lettermen among the 73 athletes invited back to the training grid. An additional 20 candidates reported to swell the number.

The only returning letterman not ready for practice was Harvey Chapman, Farmington, Mich., senior halfback. He chipped an ankle bone while playing golf last week. Although he drew equipment, he will be unable to work out for some time.

Another pre-season casualty reporting was sophomore fullback Barry Dehlin of Flushing, Mich., who sprained an ankle during a conditioning workout while on vacation last week. Dehlin, however, was able to go through a light workout and should be in top form by next week.

"The squad followed a rigid program of home exercises and running this summer and it looks like it paid off," Elliott said. Monday's double workout was the first of seven before classes start Sept. 3. Only afternoon drills will be scheduled then.

Lou Brock, Chicago Cubs' outfielder, does a little wall climbing as he and an eager young fan reach for a fly ball off the bat of Jim Hickman of the Mets at the Polo Grounds in New York. Brock didn't get it.

Baltimore Has Hitless Pair In Stock, McNally

BALTIMORE (AP)—Have you heard about the hitting exploits of Baltimore's 0-and-0 boys?

Probably not. Because, in a sense, there's NOTHING to report. 0-and-0 doesn't refer to the first initial of the players' names. It stands for the number of hits Oriole pitchers Wes Stock and Dave McNally have collected during their major league careers. That's right — None.

Stock, a relief pitcher who doesn't go to bat too often, has gone 0-for-39 during his five seasons in the majors. McNally, a rookie, is 0-for-32. What's more, they're roommates.

Most pitchers like to talk about their hitting prowess. With Stock and McNally, it's almost a running word battle. Here's a sample locker room conversation:

Stock: "I concede I'm not a good hitter. But I'm improving."

McNally: "So am I. I struck out

Four Preliminary Bouts Listed For Bosanic-Davis Go

Promoter Dick Ludwig today announced the supporting card for the 10 round Michigan middleweight championship fight between Pete Bosanic of Manistique and Jim Davis of Detroit Saturday night at the Escanaba Area Public High School gym. The program will begin at 8:30.

Ludwig has lined up an attractive preliminary program of three four-rounders and a six-round semifinal featuring fighters from Michigan, Wisconsin and Ohio.

Tangling in the semiwindup will be Davey Merritt of Detroit and J. D. Luddey of Chicago, weighing 135 pounds. Merritt has won 11 of 13 starts and has scored seven knockouts in his pro career. Luddey is a veteran of 18 professional bouts and has 16 victories under his belt.

Heavyweight Prelim
Heavyweights will clash in one of the four-rounders matching Rufus Bascall of Lima, Ohio, against Jimmy Christopher of Milwaukee. Bascall is undefeated in six professional starts while Christopher, former Wisconsin Golden Gloves champion, has been fighting in pro circles for a year.

Al Millenheft of Milwaukee, winner of the Kenosha Golden Gloves tournament middleweight title last winter, will be making his first professional start. He will meet Al Witherspoon of Windsor, Canada, at 160 pounds. Witherspoon battled Bosanic for four rounds two months ago in Canada, losing on a decision.

The remaining four-rounder will send Jodie James of Milwaukee against Dick Compton of Detroit at 147 pounds. James is a former outstanding amateur boxer who once lost to Bosanic in a paired match show at Manistique.

"We think Upper Peninsula fight fans will see an excellent preliminary card Saturday," Ludwig stated.

"Merritt, Detroit lightweight, is a great fighter and Luddey comes highly recommended. The winner of this bout will get a shot at Brian O'Shea, the outstanding Chicago boxer, who has won 20 of his 23 professional starts," Ludwig said.

Pete Tapers Off
Ludwig arrived in Escanaba Sunday to begin final preparations

Eagles To Open Football Slate With Crusaders

STEPHENSON — Coach Axel Anderson's Stephenson Eagles open their 1963 football season with a home stand against the Holy Name Crusaders Friday night.

The Eagles bowed to Holy Name by a 7-0 margin last season.

Anderson lost heavily from the 1962 squad that won one of eight starts. Among the missing lettermen are Joe Lutri, Bob Houle, Joe Turek, Tom Feher, Joe Truitt, Charles Truitt, Charles Schmidt, Jon Wangerin, Dennis Grinsteiner and Harry Westrich.

The Stephenson schedule: Aug. 30—Holy Name here Sept. 6—Kingsford here Sept. 13—Escanaba here Sept. 20—Ishtepung here Sept. 28—Newberry here Oct. 4—Munising here Oct. 12—Gladstone here Oct. 18—Manistique there

Tebbetts Feels Yankee-Indian Battle Serious

NEW YORK (AP) — Many laughs and several funny stories emanated from last Wednesday night's Cleveland-New York brawl at Yankee Stadium but some bitterness lingers, too.

The Yankees' Joe Pepitone and the Indians' Fred Whitfield, among the chief combatants in the melee precipitated by a bean-ball between the rival pitchers, were kidding about it the following afternoon but Manager Birdie Tebbetts of Cleveland indicated not everybody is laughing.

Certainly not Larry Brown, the Indians' rookie shortstop, who needed four stitches to close up a spike wound on the heel of his left foot. Nor Dick Howser, Brown's injured predecessor, who suffered a much less serious spike wound.

"Such fights cast a long shadow," said Tebbetts, who majored in psychology while at Providence College. "Some scars take a long time to heal."

"I think the Yankees were silly to get into a fuss with us. They're winning and have nothing to gain by it. Our guys are not likely to forget it."

"Nothing may come of it for awhile. But some day, some year, at an appropriate time, they'll remember and it could prove costly to the Yankees."

On the lighter side is Yankee Manager Ralph Houk's recounting of an incident that took place during the heat of the scuffle. Houk had run out to protect Pepitone who seemed to be more than holding his own against Whitfield.

"Next thing I know I'm on the ground, on top of this guy in gray flannel, wearing No. 12," said Houk, an ex-Ranger who is generally regarded as one who can take care of himself with words or fists.

"Are you Woodie Held?" I asked.

"Who the hell do you think I am," replied Held. "I got off quickly. Woodie and I have been friends for years. Then I start looking for my hat. Where do you think it is? On Held's head."

Casey Stengel compiled a .284 lifetime batting average during his 14 years as a major league player.

7:30—State Bank vs. Jugs

The State Bank, regular season champion, opened tournament play in the Girls Varsity League with a 10-6 victory over the Crusaders at Memorial Field Monday night.

The Crusaders led 4-3 until the fifth inning when the Bankers came up with six runs. Carol Terres and Carol Courne handled State Bank pitching chores.

The Bankers return to action tonight at 7:30 against the Jugs who drew a first round bye.

No Haircuts For Paterson

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Assistant General Manager Arthur E. Paterson of the Los Angeles Dodgers has vowed not to get a haircut until his team has a four-run inning.

Short of going completely bald, he might never have struck upon a surer method of slashing his barber bill.

It has taken the Dodgers 35 innings to score their last four runs. But, after dropping a 3-1 decision to Cincinnati Monday night, the Dodgers still led the National League by 5½ games.

Crusaders Switch To One Practice Session Per Day

Coach Bill Earle's Holy Name Crusaders, defending Upper Peninsula football champs switch to one-a-day practice sessions today as they prepare for their opener Friday night at Stephenson. The kickoff is scheduled for 8.

The Crusaders ran through their paces under the watchful eyes of Earle and assistant Bob Dufour last evening as the coaches began figuring their starting assignments.

"The boys have been bumping heads regularly for a couple of weeks now and the pace was beginning to tell on them, but we expect the spirit to pick up as we swing into once a day practice," Earle stated.

The Crusaders have a tough

Lary To Pitch Against Angels

DETROIT (AP) — The surging Detroit Tigers could be resting in the first division before bed time tonight.

They need a victory over Los Angeles combined with Cleveland and Boston defeats. Detroit trails sixth place Boston by a single percentage point and fifth place Cleveland by a half game.

Frank Lary (3-6), making good in his comeback from the minors, will try to pitch the Tigers to their sixth straight victory in tonight's series opener with the Angels. Dean Chance (11-15) will oppose him.

Detroit's sweep of the five-game Kansas City series gave the club a scorching 18-7 record for August.

After three games with the Angels, the Tigers will go to Cleveland for a four-game series, including a Sunday doubleheader, then head home for a Labor Day twin bill with the New York Yankees.

Stock: "That's because the pitchers found out you were a dud, and they're laying the ball in there for you now."

Stock: "I was a good hitter in high school. I batted clean-up."

McNally: "You'd be a bad hitter even in high school now."

Stock: "I got a hit in Puerto Rico last winter."

McNally: "That doesn't count. When did you get your last one in the States?"

Stock: "In 1960, while playing for Miami. When did you get one?"

McNally: "Last May, while playing with Elmira. I got five in the first month of the season—and none since."

Most of the other Orioles said they thought McNally was the better hitter — or swinger, at least. But there were several borderline opinions.

"There's not much difference between terrible and bad," said pitcher Mike McCormick.

Wilson Shuffling Lion Player Deck

BLOOMFIELD HILLS (AP) — Coach George Wilson shuffled the player deck Monday at the Detroit Lions training camp, trying to plug vital holes caused by injuries.

His principal concern is the knee injury suffered by flanker back Pat Studstill in Saturday night's 22-17 exhibition triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Dr. R. A. Thompson, team physician, said preliminary tests revealed that Studstill tore a ligament. Studstill faced further tests to determine whether surgery is indicated.

While declining to guess how long Studstill will be sidelined, Dr. Thompson indicated that it probably wouldn't be for the entire season.

Wilson said Terry Barr, who recently re-injured his left knee, would start at flanker back Friday night when the Lions host the Pittsburgh Steelers in a pre-season game.

The coach said Tom Hall or Olie Matson, a recent acquisition from Los Angeles, might alternate with Barr.

Rookie halfback Larry Ferguson and veteran linebacker Carl Bretschneider are doubtful starters this week. Bretschneider hurt his back and Ferguson twisted an ankle in the St. Louis game.

for this city's first professional boxing show in over 20 years. He has set up fight headquarters at the Sherman Hotel where the fighters will receive their physical examinations and weigh-ins on Saturday.

Members of the Michigan Athletic Board of Control, including chairman David Gudelisky of Muskegon and commissioner Frank Rodman of Hermansville, will be here for the state title bout.

Bosanic is continuing his training at the Big D Boxing Club in Detroit and will be in Escanaba Thursday. Davis and the remaining preliminary fighters are due here Friday.

The advance sale of tickets throughout the Upper Peninsula has been brisk. Ludwig reported today. Tickets are available in Escanaba at Gust Asp's and Norm's Market and in Manistique at Leonard's Barber Shop, Reber's Service and the Maytag Store. The new gym at the Escanaba Public High School has been scaled to seat 3,600 spectators.

Liston Jovial On Norway Stop

MYSEN, Norway (AP)—Sonny Liston was so jovial he even staged a mock argument with his adviser, Jack Nilon.

The setting was a news conference following an exhibition by the world heavyweight champion in this southern Norway town Monday night. The question was how long it would take Liston to get in shape for a bout with former champion Ingemar Johansson.

The Liston-Nilon argument was whether it would take five days or six.

Johansson's name was one of three—Cassius Clay and Floyd Patterson were the others—that were thrown at Liston as possible opponents.

He and Nilon admitted there had been some talk of a fight with Johansson, but that nothing was firm. They reversed their field on a Clay fight, but held out no hope for a future bout with Patterson.

"Ingemar told me personally that he is willing to fight Liston any time if the price is right," Nilon said. "I am going to confer with my brother when I get back to New York about the price."

Liston also said he hoped to have a title fight with Clay, the No. 1 contender, by February. Earlier in the United States Liston and Nilon said that all negotiations with Clay and his backers had broken down. They indicated Monday that negotiations were being held up, but hinted they would be receptive to further talks.

Ralston Will Get Acid Tennis Test At Forest Hills

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—If tempestuous Dennis Ralston can adequately demonstrate that he's grown from a Peck's Bad Boy to an angry young man the United States may be on the way toward regaining its long-lost tennis prestige.

The acid test of the 21-year-old Californian with the checkered tennis past begins Wednesday on the carefully manicured courts of Forest Hills' West Side Tennis Club in the U.S. National Singles Championships.

Ralston, the rangy stylist from Bakersfield, is seeded third behind bounding Chuck McKinley, the Wimbledon champion from San Antonio, Tex., and Australian Roy Emerson, the Australian and French champion, Rafael Osuna of Mexico is seeded fourth.

The tourney proper begins Friday, but qualification eliminations for the huge field of 224 players, including more than 100 foreign champions, open Wednesday with 64 men competing for 16 spots in the championship bracket of 128.

The pressure is squarely on Ralston, not only to demonstrate his maturity—and with it the ability to channel his temper toward demolishing opponents instead of throwing rackets—but also to solidify American hopes of again becoming an international tennis power.

Ralston was regarded as one of the country's most promising players a few years ago, then drew a year's suspension for his temper tantrums on the court during Davis Cup eliminations.

He re-emerged as potentially one of the world's best in a spectacular display against Mexico in American Zone Davis Cup semi-finals two weeks ago in Los Angeles. He beat both his Southern California roommate, Osuna, and Antonio Palafox and teamed with McKinley in beating the Mexicans who hold the Wimbledon doubles title.

Then, last week, he again teamed with McKinley in sweeping to the U.S. National Doubles title at Brookline, Mass., a strong indication that the U.S. doubles team may be able to compete on equal footing with the world-dominant Australians.

Gridders Hurt Before Drills

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Two limping candidates for the University of Michigan football team might have the notion that they'll be safer in gridiron combat.

Senior halfback Harvey Chapman of Farmington, Mich., and sophomore fullback Barry Dehlin, of Flushing, Mich., were casualties before Monday's first practice session.

Chapman suffered a chipped ankle bone last week — while playing golf.

Packers Reduce Roster To 44

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The Green Bay Packers trimmed their roster to 44 today by asking National Football League waivers on an injured veteran and two rookies signed as free agents.

Cut were linebacker Nelson Toburen, who suffered a serious neck injury in making a tackle last season, quarterback Terry Zang of Drake and center Bob Ames of Idaho.

Second Choices In Hambletonian Receive Oxygen

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — The highly regarded filly Cheer Honey and B. F. Coalton — second unofficial choices in the Hambletonian — were undergoing treatment with medicated oxygen but were considered sure starters for Wednesday's premier stake for 3-year-old trotters.

The field of 10 colts and 4 fillies, headed by the 2-5 favorite Speedy Scot, appeared ready for the $115,549 Kentucky Derby of harness racing. The only question before the first mile heat at the fast, beltless Du Quoin mile oval goes off at 2:30 p.m. EST, was whether little Joe O'Brien would be able to drive Star Act.

O'Brien, 46, winner of the Hambletonian in 1960 with Blaze Hanover and in 1955 with Scott Frost was on crutches with a knee injury. Of more vital concern was a badly sprained right wrist.

He was hurt in a spill a week ago at Chicago's Sportsman's Park.

He was not expected to decide until Wednesday morning whether he could drive Star Act.

Cheer Honey, the 2-year-old filly trotting champion of 1962 and winner of five out of eight starts this season, was about cured of a virus condition which hit her at Du Quoin last weekend.

Twice a day the daughter of Florican, with winnings of $113,014 has an improvised mask placed over her nose and breathes medicated oxygen mist for a half hour.

B. F. Coalton, who is 4-1 with Cherry Honey in unofficial odds, gets the same treatment. He has had a throat infection for a month but it is fully under control and the oxygen now is used more as a precaution.

Speedy Scot, whose trainer-driver Ralph Baldwin will be seeking his first Hambletonian triumph in 13 attempts, remained the center of attraction.

The strapping bay colt won the Yonkers Futurity, the first leg of the triple crown series which includes the Hambletonian and the Kentucky Futurity in Lexington Oct. 4, and was conceded a fine chance from the No. 3 post position to smash the race's mile record of 1:58 2-5 set by Harlan Dean at Du Quoin in 1961.

Others in the field and their unofficial odds include Captain's Boy trained 2-5 entry; Glidden Hanover and Dorado, part of the Baldwinover, 5-1; Floris, 6-1; Charles Hanover, 10-1; Diggs Dell and Buff Hanover, 10-1, John Patterson trained entry; Choir Boy 12-1; Star Act 15-1; Elma, 15-1 and Filter, 20-1.

Except from the money angle and flappy-mouthed Cassius Clay, Ernie Terrell, six-and-a-half foot and 205 pounds, is the best of the undefeated heavyweights around, who might give Liston any kind of a fight. He's from Liston's home town, Chicago.

Detroit Athletes Enjoy Conditioning At Byers Lake

Fifty Detroit area high school boys are enjoying two weeks of vigorous athletic training at Camp Ne-Kana near Steuben in preparation for the coming high school year.

The boys come from Detroit Redford, Detroit Cooley, Detroit Catholic Central, Ann Arbor and Detroit U. D. High Schools, on a volunteer basis to sharpen up for the athletic year ahead. Named "Camp Olympic," it is operated with fees paid by the boys.

Ranging in age from 14-17 they participate in a full camp program which includes hard conditioning, waterfront activities, land sports, camping, tripping by canoe and hiking, and a general program stressing physical fitness.

Some Champions
The athletes include members of the Redford High cross country team which won the state championship. Various all state football players have attended in the past three years. Basketball players from the schools also attend. Area athletes are welcome and may contact George Gvozdech, 24571 Ross Drive, Detroit 39.

Bruce Waha is track and waterfront director, Ed Larimore is in charge of land sports and Gvozdech is director and also oversees basketball and tripping. College athletes assist. This year's camp breaks Saturday. Boys come by chartered bus.

The camp has been conducted near Steuben the past three years and before that was operated three years near Pontiac. The Schoolcraft County area is preferred, Gvozdech said, because of facilities, friendliness and cooperation of merchants, and the country in general. Camp Ne-Kana, on Byers Lake, is owned by the estate of Douglas Salisbury, who died last spring. He operated a private camp in it.

The athletes arise early, run to the mailbox and back, make up beds and clean cabins, and have a flag-raising ceremony before 8 a. m. breakfast. Afterwards, beginning at 9:30 a. m., they have heavy workouts on the field. Noon lunch is followed by a rest period to 2:30 p. m., and then mass games.

Helps Sports
Activities include running from Shingletown to the camp, a distance of 17 miles; weight-lifting; canoeing and portaging from Byers to Bass Lake and then the Klondike area, a 16-mile event, and calisthenics.

For example: Two groups of 10-man teams, did 92 and 87 chin-ups, with palms facing away from the body. Another group of 20 athletes did nearly 1,000 push-ups in the morning session, Monday. A campsite also is maintained on Lake Superior and hikes are made to that area.

An important person in the camp program is Mrs. Emily Wolfe, the cook. The camp is scheduled the last two weeks in August.

Area Reports Pulp Surplus

The Manistique area has a surplus of pulpwood which is available for use, a panel of three speakers noted Monday at the Rotary Club.

The Hiawatha National Forest alone has 40,000 cords per annum, White noted.

Police Chief For Youth Job Bill

Police Chief Carroll Johnson has been informed by U. S. Senator Hubert Humphrey that hundreds of police chiefs throughout the nation have endorsed President Kennedy's Youth Employment Act.

Chief Johnson said: "The need for this legislation is based upon the fact that unless the government adopts job-creating measures such as the Youth Employment Act, there will be an unprecedented rise in youth unemployment as the '60s progress, because of an explosive rise in the number of young people entering the work force."

"A new Labor Department report on the nation's young workers notes that over the next three years, 5.5 million youngsters, most of them 18- and 19-year-olds, will be looking for their first full-time jobs. As many as 2 million of these will not have graduated from high school. Among the 2 million drop-outs, the unemployment rate will be much higher—a socially disastrous 25 per cent."

"Worse still, unless the drop-outs somehow receive additional training their chances of ever landing a decent-paying job will be almost nil."

"Police chiefs realize that unless job opportunities are provided for our youth that delinquency, crime and violence will increase. The consequences could be explosive."

"The Youth Employment and Conservation Bill was passed by the Senate and is expected to go before the House in the near future. The primary purpose of this legislation is to provide work and training for youths from the age of 16 through 21."

Precedent For Bridge Takeover Is Seen By Knox

Congressman Victor A. Knox (R-Mich.) today described action by the House Public Works Committee as "setting a precedent for the federal government to assume the bond obligations of the Mackinac Straits Bridge."

Knox referred to action taken by the House Public Works Committee Aug. 22 in approving a bill which would authorize a federal payment of $63.8 million to retire the outstanding bond obligations of the Calumet Skyway in Chicago. The payment would be based on 90 per cent of the depreciated cost of the tollway, which was incorporated into the Federal Interstate Highway System.

Knox said, "While this bill has yet to gain passage through both houses of Congress, a precedent has been set for allocating federal funds in similar fashion to retire a major portion of the Mackinac Straits Bridge bonds."

"If anything," Knox said, "the case for the Mackinac Straits Bridge is stronger. In the case of the Calumet Skyway, it is part of the Illinois Tollroads System surrounding Chicago, and that system as a whole has been in sound financial shape. The Mackinac Straits Bridge, however, has no similar source of local funds to draw upon, and has had to continually raise its toll charges to meet the bonding obligations."

Knox described the Mackinac Straits Bridge "as the key to the economic development of Northern Michigan." Knox said "Transportation is the key to economic development, and the Mackinac Bridge is the key to transportation in Northern Michigan. The high toll rates at the Mackinac Bridge have made it the only barrier in Michigan's portion of the Interstate Highway System. By using federal funds to retire the Mackinac Bridge bonds, tolls could be drastically reduced, which would be an incentive for industrial expansion in Northern Michigan as well as providing great impetus to the tourist trade. "Since Michigan has led the nation in meeting its responsibilities under the Federal Interstate Highway System, and since the Mackinac Straits Bridge plays such a vital role in the economic development of Northern Michigan, I believe an amendment to the Calumet Skyway bill to grant similar treatment to the Mackinac Straits Bridge would be more than justified. I intend to press for such an amendment when this bill reaches the House floor."

Gulls Take Over Soo Driving Range

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—The birds have arrived at the Flamingo Driving Range, but they're not trying to take over the world. Their nightly invasion is in the interest of motherhood.

Golf range manager Duane Bertram says each night lately, Great Lakes sea gulls have been settling on golf balls left in the field overnight, as if they expected the balls to hatch.

"Then they think they have squatter's right," says Bertram. He says each morning when he tries to collect the balls "they gang up on me. They get very belligerent."

"I don't know what I'm going to do," he said.

TV Medicine Now 10 Hour Stretch

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—With the premier of ABC's "Breaking Point" on Sept. 16, television audiences will have access to 10 network hours of drama each week dedicated to the sick, sore, lame and disabled.

The statistic includes four returning evening shows, "Dr. Kildare," "Ben Casey," "The Eleventh Hour" and "The Nurses." There are also the afternoon agony serials, "The Doctors" and "General Hospital."

It is axiomatic in television that one popular series spawns a rash of similar ones, but the question most often asked of "Breaking Point" producer George Lefferts these days is why a second series dedicated to exploring the labyrinths of mental and emotional illness, "Eleventh Hour," returning after a modestly successful NBC season, is staked out in exactly the same area—psychiatry and psychoanalysis.

Lefferts insists there is a need for still another series.

"I think such a series does perform a constructive social service," he explained. "We're not interested in effecting instant cures for dramatic effect. But we are moving in areas where problems exist for many people and simply exposing them—ventilating them—trying to give some insight of the dynamics of things that create unhappiness. All, of course, in the hope that people can do something about it."

Besides which, he added, "there seems to be a consuming interest by the public in this kind of material."

NBC's "Eleventh Hour" last season ran into a barrage of complaints from psychiatrists and others in spite of having its scripts checked by an American Medical Association committee and the on-set consultant services of a Los Angeles psychiatrist. "Breaking Point" has two AMA

War Books Have Boom Readership

There has been a surge of reader interest in World War I in recent months, and dozens of books have come from publishers on all aspects of the conflict.

This interest has created a continuing demand at Carnegie Public Library for books on the war, including histories, personal narratives, biographies of war leaders, descriptions of campaigns and battles, and novels according to Library Director Harry Courtwright.

Historian-author Barbara Tuchman's recent best-selling book, "The Guns of August," describes the background of the first World War and the battles of Liege, Tannenberg, Mons and others fought during the first month of the war. Reviewers have praised the book highly.

One of the most readable recent summaries of World War I is Hanson Baldwin's "World War I: An Outline History." The author, military editor of the New York Times, covers every aspect of the war, from the initial German invasion of France and Belgium to the signing of the armistice in 1918.

Other histories of the war include "The Doughboys," by Laurence Stallings; "The Great Adventure," by Pierce Fredericks; "The Great War," by Cyril Falls; and "1918: The Last Act," by Barrie Pitt.

Campaigns and battles in World War I have been described in such books as "In Flanders Fields," by Leon Wolff; "The First Battle of the Marne," by Robert Asprey; "Gallipoli," by Alan Moorehead; and "The Donkeys," by Alan Clark.

The dramatic story of World War I in the air—requested especially by teen-agers—is told in Charles Nordhoff's "Falcon of France," Quentin Reynolds' "They Fought for the Sky," Arch Whitehouse's "Legion of the Lafayette," and "Air Aces of the 1914-1918 War," edited by Bruce Robertson.

Novels about World War I are also in constant demand at the Carnegie Library. Some of the most asked for include Ernest Hemingway's "Farwell to Arms," Erich Remarque's "All Quiet on the Western Front," Samuel Shellabarger's "Tolbecken," and Dale Fife's "The Unmarried Sisters."
